U.S. Seeking World Opinion Against China

Ike's Main Plan Shuns Urgings For Use Of More Direct Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Steady pressure aimed at arousing world feelings shaped up today as the main U. S. plan for winning release of 13 Americans jailed by Red China, despite new urging for more direct action.

Support for a tougher approach came from Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.). He declared he is "in complete sympathy" with the proposal of Senate Majority Leader Knowland of California to blockade the China coast.

He said he doubted a single American warship would be needed to create a blockade. He suggested the United States could impose one by telling its allies they would get no more aid as long as they kept shipping goods to Communist China.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said he is opposed to any blockade but the United States should "pursue Russia as much as we can to use her influence with the puppet Peiping government" to halt aggressive acts.

SECRETARY of State Dulles' short-of-war strategy for liberating the 11 U. S. airmen and two Army-employed civilians appeared to center on the marshaling of world opinion.

Dulles said during his Chicago speech Monday night that the United States would "exhaust peaceful means of sustaining our international rights and those of our citizens."

He ruled out, with backing from the White House made public yesterday, any "war action such as a naval and air blockade of Red China."

Knowland declared he saw no great break between him and the administration on that score, but only a difference of opinion.

McCarthy said that if Allied nations were told they must halt all shipments to Red China or lose U. S. aid, he believed it would bring about the release of not only the 13 imprisoned airmen but also other Americans held in China.

"According to the military," he said, "they hold over 500 of our uniformed men." The U. S. government has demanded an accounting of Peiping for 526 missing American servicemen.

He said if such a measure didn't work, he would favor the blockade advocated by Knowland.

OTHER POSSIBLE avenues for the U. S. short-of-war effort included further use of the British contact with Red China, whom Washington does not recognize diplomatically, or even a request that the Russians use their good offices. The matter could also be taken up in the U. N.

In any event, one problem facing U. S. officials was this: Should their actions be directed at seeking freedom for the 13 recently imprisoned or should they go whole hog and demand the release of all American citizens believed to be held inside China.

Grand Jury Studies Death Of Remington

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A federal grand jury was called to session here today to investigate the slaying of William W. Remington, former government economist convicted of perjury in a Communist espionage case.

Two physicians who tried vainly to save the 37-year-old economist's life at Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary last week, were testified to Remington's injuries. They are Dr. Charles Tomlinson, prison physician, and Dr. Leon Wittkin of Milton, Pa.

Dr. Wittkin was called to the prison when Remington's condition became critical after he was beaten with a half-brick encased in a sock Nov. 22. He died of a skull fracture Nov. 24.

Three convicts are charged with Remington's death. They are Lewis Cagle Jr., 17, Chattanooga, Tenn.; George Junior McCoy, 34, Grundy, Va.; and Robert Carl Parker, 21, Washington.

Remington, a former Commerce Department official, was accused of lying when he denied he ever passed secrets to Communists. He was serving a three-year term.

James V. Bennett, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, has said more than one motive may have been involved.

There has been speculation that the attack may have been a protest against the release of Alger Hiss, paroled Saturday from the prison, or against communism in general. But prison officials denied both theories.

Cagle was quoted by prison officials as saying the motive was strictly robbery.

Senators Nearing Decision On Censure Of McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A vote to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) seems in the cards as the Senate approaches the hour of decision.

With voting slated to start late today, McCarthy himself predicted a "completely one-sided" verdict against him.

Democratic senators said privately they expected their ranks to hold virtually solid for censure. Republicans were forecasting a close division in their lineup.

Since GOP and Democratic strength in the 96-man Senate is about equal a Republican split could swing the majority vote needed for censure.

Under a unanimous consent agreement adopted at McCarthy's request, limits on debate start at 3 p. m. While this heralds some voting today, the final showdown of the extraordinary session begun Nov. 8 is not expected until tomorrow or perhaps Friday.

GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY — Feels that if Russia presented only a difference in social, political and economic ideals there would be little impediment for co-existence—the term being used to mean "get along peacefully with them." However, Sokolsky points out that Russia also presents the broader problem of the Marxist Church, which seeks to dominate the thinking of the whole human race. See the editorial page.

RAY TUCKER — Believes Prime Minister Nehru of India is largely responsible for the White House decision to extend far greater economic aid to Asian, Middle East and South American countries. But Tucker says the emphasis in such aid is to be shifted from the military to the bread-and-butter sphere. See the editorial page.

JAMES MARLOW — Thinks President Eisenhower will hold high public esteem throughout his term at the national helm. For a man two years in the White House, Marlow points out, the president has been surprisingly free of personal attacks or abuse. See page 5.

Zanesville Bus Drivers Strike

ZANESVILLE (AP)—This city of 40,000 people was without bus service today.

Some 41 drivers of the Zanesville Rapid Transit Co., along with a number of mechanics, members of a local independent union, failed to report to work after their contract with the company expired last midnight.

The company, because of falling revenues, had asked the drivers and mechanics to take a 10 per cent pay reduction, and the employees declined. Bus drivers currently are paid $1.41 per hour.

There was no immediate plans for negotiations.

OK Predicted For Extension Of Draft Law

New Military Setup Would Include Form Of UMT, Wilson Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four senators agreed today that the next Congress will extend the draft act but differed over other parts of the Pentagon's new manpower plans.

Secretary of Defense Wilson outlined the program yesterday: It will call for a four-year extension of the draft law, a modified form of Universal Military Training that will provide for long and short-term draftees, more pay for long-service men and little change in the historic reserve and National Guard setup.

Wilson said that while some details remain to be settled President Eisenhower will present the plan in his State of the Union message to the new Congress in January.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee and two committeemen, Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.) and Case (R-SD), agreed that Wilson would get a sympathetic hearing when he takes his case before the group.

"I heartily believe that an improved reserve program is necessary," Saltonstall added, saying he had "tried five times" to get the Pentagon to submit details on it during the current session of Congress. The current Draft Act, passed in 1951, expires April 30.

WHILE CONCURRING with the other three senators that the selective service law should be extended, Sen. Long (D-La.) said he doubts Congress would OK what he described as a new version of the Universal Military Training program Congress has turned down several times in recent years.

"As one who previously supported UMT," he said, "I think it can't be done."

Wilson said the manpower program as now planned calls for a double system of induction through the selective service. Most young men (nearly 300,000 a year at the current rate) would be drafted for two years of active duty, then go into the organized reserve.

Then, to build up the reserve, another 50,000 to 100,000 would be inducted for a four to six-month basic training period and then automatically become members of the ready reserve.

There would be two major distinctions between the short and longer term draftees:

1. The short-termers would not classify as "veterans according to the latest Pentagon thinking, and thus would not qualify for most veterans benefits.

2. The 24-month selectees would spend less time in the organized reserves while the short-termers would be on call for emergency active duty for a year or two longer.

Wilson said the new program was intended to induce men to stay in uniform longer. He spoke in terms of a pay increase amounting to from 3 to 5 per cent, costing up to $600 million a year.

Pentagon aides said the raise might exclude men who serve only the minimum two years, leaving more money to be given longer term and career specialists.

Follansbee Chief Awaiting Order

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Marcus Follansbee, president of Follansbee Steel Corp., says no immediate action is planned on the contested sale of the company to a New York financier until a formal court order blocking the sale is received.

Federal Judge Herbert Boreman issued an opinion Monday as a basis for an order halting the proposed sale of the firm's physical assets to Frederick W. Richmond for $28,286,000.

In his opinion Judge Boreman said the firm's officials failed to give the stockholders complete information on terms of the sale.

Two other offers were made to buy the firm. The judge said the directors also failed to give this information to the shareholders.

Pen Walkaway Still Missing

COLUMBUS (AP)—Pat McDermott, 56-year-old escaped Ohio Penitentiary lifer, was still at large today. Law officers said they knew of no new developments in the search for him.

McDermott imprisoned for life in the 1926 slaying of Don R. Mellett, crusading Canton newspaper publisher, walked out of the penitentiary Sunday afternoon with a group of honor dormitory visitors.

McDermott had appeared before the parole and pardon commission in 1947 and 1952. The board's findings are confidential, but no action resulted.

Susan Hayes Says Sam Told Of His Love For Her, Talked Of Divorce

Ohio Opens First Section Of Its 241-Mile Turnpike

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—A new era in Ohio highway transportation began today.

Ohio and Pennsylvania joined in dedicating and opening the 22-mile Eastgate section of the Ohio Turnpike in Mahoning County, first such roadway in the state.

The Eastgate section, first portion of the 241-mile Northern Ohio Turnpike opened to traffic, provides a direct link with the Pennsylvania Turnpike at the Ohio-Pennsylvania line a few miles west of Petersburg, Ohio.

Turnpike officials called the occasion an historic one, labelling it the beginning of the eastern turnpike system which by 1957 will provide a limited-access, multiple-lane, divided expressway all the way from New York to Chicago via the turnpikes of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana.

Upon completion on Oct. 1, 1955, Ohio's turnpike will link the eastern turnpikes with those planned or under construction in Indiana and Illinois.

James W. Shocknessy, chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission, said it was possible the remainder of the Ohio turnpike would be opened in sections before Oct. 1, 1955.

However, he said he "would bet his hat" the entire turnpike was open by Oct. 1 next year.

Shocknessy said the speed limit for the Eastgate section and the entire Ohio pike, when opened, would be 65 mph for passenger cars and would be enforced rigidly.

A series of ceremonies for the occasion began at the Niles-Youngstown interchange at U. S. 18, and included programs at the Youngstown interchange at U. S. 7, Eastgate terminal and the Ohio-Pennsylvania line.

Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche greeted Pennsylvania Gov. John S. Fine at the state line.

The governors, with Shocknessy and T. J. Evans, chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, participated in ribbon-cutting ceremonies marking the first physical joining of toll roads of two states.

A luncheon at the Youngstown Country Club for more than 300 officials of both states followed opening ceremonies.

Gov. Lausche spoke at each of the toll plazas and at the country club. The governor signaled the Eastgate terminal to open the Ohio pike to toll traffic during a radio broadcast at the country club.

The Eastgate section opened today extends from near Petersburg, Ohio, where it links up with the Pennsylvania turnpike, to a point west of Youngstown.

It is the first portion of the $326 million Northern Ohio Turnpike to be opened to the public. The western terminus of the Ohio toll road will be near Columbia, Ohio, at the Indiana border in the northwestern corner of the state.

The Ohio toll road provides two reinforced concrete roadways, each 24 feet wide, consisting of two 12-foot lanes in each direction with a center dividing strip 56 feet wide.

Toll charges for passenger vehicles will figure out 1.24 cents per mile for the 241-mile distance. Those using the 22-mile Eastgate section today will pay 25 cents between Eastgate and Youngstown interchange, and 30 cents between Eastgate and the Niles - Youngstown interchange west of Youngstown. Trucks with four axles will pay $1.45 for the Eastgate-Niles-Youngstown interchange distance, and trucks with more than four axles will pay $1.90.

Cincinnati Prosecutor Sees Vote Theft In Senate Race

CINCINNATI (AP)—C. Watson Hooper, Hamilton County prosecutor, said here today there is "indication of outright vote stealing" in the counting of votes after the election last Nov. 2 in the senatorial contest between Sen. Thomas A. Burke and Rep. George H. Bender.

He said an investigation by the board of elections and the county prosecutor's office will begin immediately after a recount of the Burke-Bender vote is completed.

Sen. Burke, Democrat, showed a net gain of 1,577 votes in Ohio today, near the mid-mark of a 25-county recount.

Burke demanded the recount in an attempt to overcome the 6,041 vote victory margin of his Republican opponent, George H. Bender.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's office reported that the first 41 precincts recounted in Hamilton County gave Burke a net gain of 55 votes. Burke has charged widespread irregularities in the Nov. 2 election in Hamilton County, where Bender got a 37,000-vote margin.

The Hamilton County election board today turned down Burke forces' request that they be allowed to name their own counters.

The first 866 Cuyahoga County precincts recounted gave Burke a net gain of 810 votes, and 206 precincts in Franklin County gave him another 110 votes.

BROWN'S OFFICE reported recounts completed in nine counties. Bender had a net gain in two of them, eight votes in Ashland County and 20 votes in Muskingum County.

Burke gained in the other counties where recounts are complete. He picked up 19 votes in Belmont County, 48 in Butler, 15 in Greene, six in Licking, 13 in Medina, 14 in Putnam and 27 in Scioto. Burke also gained 80 votes in Jefferson County where recounting is complete except for one precinct where ballots are in dispute.

Burke forces said they expected their biggest boost from Hamilton County.

Brown went to Cincinnati last night and planned to watch the Hamilton County tabulation firsthand.

Recounts started last night in Putnam and Columbiana counties. Early reports at Columbiana County showed a Bender gain of 13 votes with 34 of 140 precincts counted.

Brown, the state's elections official, has about 40 disputed ballots from one precinct in Jefferson County under study, and one ballot from Licking County.

The 25 counties requested. Other recounts showed: Allen County: Burke gained three votes in 30 precincts.

Ashtabula: Burke 10 in 14. Lawrence: Bender 26 in 11. Lucas: Burke 47 in 92. Mahoning: Bender 3 in 86. Mercer: Burke 34 in 36. Richland: Bender 6 in 70. Ross: Burke 2 in 51. Scioto: Burke 27 in all 125. Stark: Burke 124 in 208. Tuscarawas: Burke 14 in 42.

Death Ends Lad's Eight-Year Coma

COLUMBUS (AP)—Danny Neal Lisal, who passed his 12th birthday last week in the coma which had engulfed him for eight years, died last night.

Death for the youngster who was injured the day before his fourth birthday near his Hamilton home came just as doctors had been sure it would—from a respiratory infection.

Dr. Wendell A. Butcher, superintendent of the Columbus State School where Danny had lain for years in an eyes-open, but unseeing, coma, said he has not yet heard from the boy's mother, Mrs. Charles Surber of Anderson, Ind. Last week, at the time of Danny's birthday, she herself was hospitalized for surgery.

Star Witness In Sheppard Trial Heard

'Other Woman' Claims Defendant Gave Her A Ring In January

CLEVELAND (AP)—Susan Hayes testified today that Dr. Samuel Sheppard told her he loved her, gave her a ring and said he was "thinking of divorce."

These events took place in the latter part of 1953 and last January, the state's "star witness" told the jury which will decide the fate of the murder trial defendant.

The prosecution is said by observers to be using testimony by Miss Hayes to establish motive for Dr. Sam's alleged brutal slaying of his wife.

Testifying in a low, often semi-audible voice, and looking straight ahead, the attractive witness replied "yes" to a question as to whether Sheppard "expressed love for you on other occasions."

She said Sheppard gave her the ring while they were together in her home in January of this year. She said that the first mention of divorce, she estimated, was in the "early part of 1953."

"HE TOLD ME he loved his wife very much, but not so much as a wife. He was thinking of divorce," Miss Hayes said.

"He said he wasn't sure if his father would approve."

Sheppard, accused of hacking his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31, to death in her bed at their lakefront home last July 4, watched intently. Occasionally he bit his lip, made notes or clasped his hands in front of his chest.

After she went to California last year and before Sheppard came to Los Angeles last March for post graduate work in osteopathy, they exchanged about four letters, Miss Hayes said. He wrote to her first, she added.

Her eyes straight ahead and away from the defendant, the pretty witness told of going with him on a date to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller. Dr. Miller is a Los Angeles osteopath and a friend of Sheppard.

Miss Hayes described an evening which began with dinner. Later friends of the Millers dropped in and she said, "Some of the people played poker."

"Where did you spend that night?" asked Asst. Prosecutor Thomas Parrino.

"AT THE MILLERS' home," Susan replied.

"At the Miller home," the witness said.

"Did you share the same bedroom?" Parrino asked.

"Yes," Miss Hayes said.

West Union Sets World Field Day

WEST UNION (AP)—The first World Field Day to be held in the United States will center in Adams County in 1957 in connection with the National Plowing Contest that year.

Health Board Finds City Hall 'Satisfactory'

Conditions in the municipal building are "quite satisfactory," the city health board reported after a tour of the premises Tuesday.

The tour of the building, including the city jail, was made in conjunction with the board's regular meeting, at which the group also approved the appointment of C. O. Leist as city health director. Leist, who held the post last year, was asked to resume the duties when Oscar Root was forced by illness to resign.

In addition to his work as health director, Leist is serving as temporary appointee to the job of city safety director.

Mayor Bob Hedges, honorary chairman of the health board, said a few sanitation adjustments are needed at the city building, "but all in all we found things quite satisfactory." He likewise called attention to a vacancy that has existed on the board since the Rev. Robert Weaver left Circleville for another church assignment.

Present members of the health board are: Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Bob Young, Dr. Henry Swope and Dr. Ray Carroll.

2nd County School Forced To Close

A second Pickaway County school has been forced to close because of mechanical difficulties.

Well trouble at Monroe Township School resulted in the closing of the building for several days. County Superintendent of Schools George McDowell said that workers labored all Tuesday night in an effort to make final repairs.

A test will be run on the repaired well Thursday.

Furnace trouble recently forced Perry Township School at Atlanta to close. McDowell said tests are now being made at the school on new equipment.

Sokolosky's
These Days

The answer, of course, is that before they became Marxists, they had revolted against God; that race and nationality have lost all meaning for them; whereas the Marxist "scientific" approach to the question, "What is man?" satisfies their need for a unified system.

But above all else, they seek a society without war, having been affected in their own lives by the consequences of two wars in one generation. They are prepared to give up religion, race and nationality for peace.

As over-simplified as this explanation must be, it is nevertheless true. It is the problem of our day. Up to now, the West has not met this problem philosophically and therefore has not met it at all. Giving money to governments does not lessen Marxist influence, because money is not at issue; nor is a high standard of living. What is at issue is the Communist claim to a world without war because it is without religion, race or nationality.

If co-existence means the acceptance of Russia under any conditions, is it necessary to permit the indoctrination of our people by Marxism?

Some Danger Seen
In Commie-Hunt

BOSTON (AP) — Yale University Theologian Roland H. Bainton got a standing ovation at a National Council of Churches banquet here after a speech in which he declared American freedoms are more keenly menaced by anti-Communist drives than by the Communists themselves.

He said "loyalty oaths do not catch Communists because they will readily lie," but do damage those who object to such oaths on principle. He said similar measures do more to create distrust and suspicion and muzzle free expression than actually to catch Communists.

But he said the business of preserving freedom poses a tough dilemma. He declared:

"If we take no measures by way of opposition we may be overcome by means of our own freedom. If

Speedboat King,
Model Due To Air
Tiff In Court

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Gar Wood, white-haired dean of American speedboat racing, and a 23-year-old former model will air their squabbles in a justice of the peace court here Tuesday.

Wood, 73-year-old millionaire boat builder, said Lucille Stiglich, a statuesque brunette, went to his home on Fisher Island and threatened to kill him. He charged she made a special trip to the island to threaten him and brought her mother with her.

Wood had Miss Stiglich placed in a $500 peace bond and she in turn charged him with assault. She said he kicked her and beat her Nov. 13.

Miss Stiglich said over the phone that she was too ill to talk about the matter. Her attorney said she told him Wood was supposed to meet her but when she arrived she found him with another girl.

The attorney said Miss Stiglich, a divorcee, claims Wood has promised to marry her.

Father Of Blues
Back In Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The blind old Father of the Blues is back on Beale Street, the onetime thoroughfare of wickedness where he created a "low-down" music with a mournful beat.

W. C. Handy, bent with the weight of 81 years, flew here from New York yesterday to lend his presence to the Blues Bowl football game, a charity affair between two high school teams.

Blowing a horn is too much for the writer of "Memphis Blues" now. He said he had to rest several weeks to "store up" strength for the trip. But he'll try to manage one note in a minor key to start things jumping.

Publicist Quits

WASHINGTON (AP)—James Bassett has left his post as publicity director of the Republican National Committee to return to the Los Angeles Mirror as city editor.

He said "loyalty oaths do not catch Communists because they will readily lie," but do damage those who object to such oaths on principle. He said similar measures do more to create distrust and suspicion and muzzle free expression than actually to catch Communists.

But he said the business of preserving freedom poses a tough dilemma. He declared:

Killed In Mishap

GALLIPOLIS (AP)—The death yesterday of Orbie Morris, 16, of Bidwell by a shotgun blast while hunting was ruled accidental.

Coroner Donald R. Warehime said the youth tried to snatch the loaded gun from his brother, Sammy, 15, and it discharged into his left side.

Physician's Wife
Slated For Trial

MARYSVILLE (AP)—A Marysville physician's wife accused of sending unsigned pre-election circulars to Union County voters will go on trial here Dec. 9.

Mrs. Charles E. Bolinger is accused of sending unsigned letters attacking the .8 mill tax levy for Union County Memorial Hospital approved by a narrow margin Nov. 2.

Sheriff Walter Galloway said the circulars were mailed from Columbus, Hington, Kenton, Dunkirk, Findlay and Toledo so as to arrive on Nov. 1 or Nov. 2. He claimed there are at least 25 known violations of the election law which forbids sending unsigned election literature through the mail.

The earliest religion in India was a form of animism, the ancient Hindu believing in animal gods and tree-gods.

Hal Boyle Says:

He's Training Perfect Wife

NEW YORK (AP) — When you have a new baby in the house, the veteran parents among your friends are always warning:

"Yes, they're wonderful when they're helpless and completely dependent on you. But wait until they learn to walk. Then you'll never know a moment's peace. They just become little terrors."

Well, Tracy Ann, who came to our house to live when she was five weeks old, has now passed her 17th month birthday. She walks and climbs like crazy, trying each hour to explore and absorb all the wonders and knowledge in the whole wide world. And while life with her is admittedly less peaceful, it grows more wonderful each passing golden day.

Nothing makes a grownup appreciate the commonplace miracles of our daily lives—miracles to which time has dulled us—than to watch a child discover them one by one.

Take a simple thing like shadows, for example. The morning Tracy discovered she could wave her hands in the bright sunlight and make moving shadows on the wall she went wild with excitement. When the sun went behind a cloud and the shadows ceased, she complained bitterly. What had gone wrong in the world?

She can imitate a lamb, a dog, a cow, and an Indian princess—this last she does by patting her lips and letting out war whoops. But her actual vocabulary consists of four words—mama, dada, pa-pa, and no.

Although Frances and I have avoided saying "no" to her as much as possible, she picked up her little friends in the playground for small fry in our apartment development, a playground which the young mothers generally refer to as "The Snake Pit."

"No! No! No! No!" she says, striding about like a Hollywood producer. And like a Hollywood producer she often says "no" when she really means "yes."

It is almost frightening to see the speed with which a child's personality develops, forming swiftly into a pattern that will probably last a lifetime. Already

we know that Tracy is intelligent but stubborn, that physical punishment has no effect upon her but that she is kind, has a strong sense of duty and a deep need for loving approval.

She dislikes sudden noises, but will go up and throw her small arms fearlessly around the neck of the biggest, loudest barking dog. She loves colorful flowers but has learned to pet them, not destroy them. She is passionately fond of all animals and birds, and breaks into a crooning love chant when she sees them.

The only thing she is afraid of is the vacuum cleaner. When

Frances is doing the rug, Tracy has the idea that the cleaner is some kind of dragon attacking her mother. She stands there letting out yelps of dismay until the dragon is banished again to the closet.

"If that doesn't show this child is smart, I don't know what would," says Frances, who does not like the vacuum cleaner any more than Tracy does.

No child her age ever tried harder to learn the arts of a housewife. Tracy wants to help her mother cook, serve meals, do the dishes and darn stockings.

When I come home and call out "where're my slippers", Tracy runs and fetches them. Then she takes my shoes, grumbling at their weight, and gallops into my room and puts them neatly under a chair.

Somewhere in America there is a runny-nosed, dirty-cheeked little boy growing up. I wonder what kind of a man he will be. For here I am spending the best years of my life training a perfect little wife for him. I hope the scoundrel, whoever he is, will have the common decency to come to me 20 years or so from now and say, "thanks, dad."

Revised Postal Manual Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new streamlined postal manual will be issued in final form today.

Postmaster General Summerfield described the new manual as "the most complete revision and simplification of postal regulations in history," asserting that the re-written manual eliminates "booby trap" regulations and reduces the rules to simple English.

Canada's Tourist Business Slips

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's tourist business has slipped a little this year compared with 1953.

Officials blame a variety of factors. Weather is one. Another is that the Canadian dollar holds at a premium of 3 to 5 cents over the U.S. dollar, and U.S. tourists don't take kindly to the idea.

Officials concede that the lure of Florida—and of Europe on a pay-later basis—is a challenge to Canadian tourism. Noting that major U.S. airlines offer vacations in Europe for $35 down, a Canadian travel official commented:

"It's pretty hard to compete against that sort of thing."

Sheriff Holds Man In Close Custody

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sheriff Dick Coward handcuffed himself to the prisoner, and gave the handcuff key to a deputy, who put it in a shirt pocket. Then the three left for a cornfield to search for a missing murder weapon.

When they returned to jail, the deputy discovered the key was missing. He had dropped it while bending over to search the field. The cuffs had to be cut off.

October Traffic Deaths Show Dip

The 2 per cent decrease for the month was the smallest since January and the 3,580-death total was the largest for any month in the year, the council added.

For the first 10 months this year, the total of 29,350 deaths was 6 per cent fewer than for the like period in 1953.

For the first nine months of the year, travel mileage was 3 per cent higher for the country as a whole. This gave a rate of 6.2 deaths per 100 million miles, or the lowest on record for the period, the council said.

Phone Book Ad Brings Lawsuit

SANDUSKY (AP) — A Bellevue firm has sued Ohio Bell Telephone Co. for $20,000 on grounds its advertisement in the phone book listed the phone number of a competitor.

Because of this, said the firm in a common pleas petition filed yesterday, it lost most of its business drilling wells and building sewage disposal systems.

The plaintiffs were Ida C., Walter P. and Harold W. Robertson, whose company is called Robertson's of Bellevue. They said their advertisement, with the competitor's phone number, appeared in both the 1953-54 directory and the 1954-55 directory.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has retained such immense personal popularity through the first two years of his term he probably will hold this public esteem to the end.

For a man two years in the White House, he has been almost amazingly free of personal attacks. For one thing, politicians who might like to take a crack at him may have felt it too risky to attack a national hero.

But Eisenhower himself, although a novice in politics, has allowed the one course best calculated to bring him a minimum of abuse: by making no personal attacks.

Perhaps the best example of this is his handling of Sen. McCarthy. He has treated Sen. Knowland of California very carefully too—who has repeatedly stepped on the toes of the administration.

Yet, before his term is up Eisenhower may think it necessary to take a far tougher position on matters affecting his administration. More than his own personal popularity is at stake these next two years.

In 1956 the voters will decide not only whether the Republicans should stay in office but perhaps even the future of the Republican party itself.

Yet, before his term is up Eisenhower cannot claim equal popularity with Eisenhower. There are two examples of that: He ran far in front of the party in 1952; and the Republicans lost control of Congress to the Democrats in last month's elections while Eisenhower's popularity rating was still regarded as high.

The Republicans will not present an enticing spectacle to the voters between now and 1956 they show themselves split on domestic and foreign affairs, with some of them in steady opposition to Eisenhower or at least to his administration.

That Eisenhower can expect trouble from McCarthy seems a foregone conclusion. Even if he is censured this week, the Wisconsin Republican says, he will continue his search for Communists. His most likely searching ground is the administration, as it was the past two years.

McCarthy has a following inside and outside Congress and in the Republican party. It may not be a majority following but it could create bad spirits which might ruin the party's chances in 1956.

Knowland, the Republicans' Senate leader and therefore a source from which Eisenhower might ordinarily expect a minimum of difficulty, has often differed with Eisenhower on foreign policy. He shows no signs of changing.

Knowland too will have some support among Republicans, often perhaps from McCarthy's followers.

In the end, if the Republicans spend their time and energy in splits and wrangles, Eisenhower may have to depend on the Democrats—who are slated to be in a majority when the new Congress opens in 1955—at least to push through his foreign policy plans.

Last year McCarthy called on Eisenhower to cut off aid to allies who traded with the Communists. Today in an interview he came back to the same theme again.

He suggested the Chinese Communists would be forced to give up the 13 Americans imprisoned as spies if the Allies would stop trading with them. This country, he said, should force the Allies to stop trading by shutting off American aid to them if they didn't.

Knowland wants Eisenhower to blockade the China coast to force release of the prisoners. McCarthy lined up with Knowland by saying he'd back the blockade idea if his own idea of stop-trade-stop-aid didn't work.

Even though Secretary of State Dulles publicly repudiated Knowland's blockade proposal as a warlike act, and Eisenhower backed up Dulles yesterday, Knowland came right back by insisting on the blockade. He has taken a stand contrary to the administration's gain and again.

'Puny Little Thing' Lives To Be 100

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tiny Jennie Rupert, who says she was born a "puny little thing nobody ever paid much mind to," got a letter Monday from the President of the United States. The occasion was her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Rupert started out in life as a bundle of only three pounds, "and that included my flannel dress." But she grew up to be a 78-pound bride of a Yankee who fought in the Civil War. Right now, she barely nudges 70 pounds.

President Eisenhower's letter, she said, "really pepped me up."

The letter said: "Please accept my sincere congratulations upon your birthday. May good health be yours through many more years."

Youth Abandons Chemistry Study

CINCINNATI (AP)—The world of science and chemistry is just going to have to get along without 18-year-old James Gibson.

The youth, his left hand heavily bandaged and his face marred with cuts, declared today "it's all over" as he referred to his experiments with chemistry and explosives.

A homemade bomb which he had made exploded in young Gibson's hand last night and surgery was necessary on the hand. Last March the same youth had to be given hospital treatment for injuries to his face and eyes suffered in an explosion while he and three other boys were experimenting with a chemistry set.

Would-Be Rescuer Crushed In Mishap

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Caught in a collapsing slag pile, the general manager of the Lorain Slag Co. was crushed to death yesterday while trying to rescue a trapped employee.

William F. Miller, of suburban Bay Village, had tried to save Henry Kraemer, 23. Kraemer was in serious condition in St. Joseph's Hospital with back injuries and possible fractured ribs.

The slag had become caked over a 15-foot pit opening into a conveyor system that led to a freighter on which it was being loaded. Kraemer stepped onto the pile and it collapsed. Miller rushed to his rescue but dropped from sight.

Kraemer, whose head was visible, was pulled out first by workmen who later extricated Miller.

Probation Lifted For Polygamists

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP)—A year-long probation ended yesterday for nine residents of once polygamist Short Creek, Ariz.

Superior Court Judge Robert S. Tullar, who passed the original sentence against the men in 1953, turned down a petition to revoke the probation and send them to jail.

The state claimed the men had resumed practice of plural marriages.

Each of the men testified he had not practiced polygamy during the past year and did not intend to practice it again.

The tiny Short Creek community was brought to national attention July 23, 1953, when officers raided it and arrested virtually the entire population.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

If Russia presented no other problem than a difference of social, political and economic techniques, there would be no impediment to what they call co-existence. The United States existed amicably with autocratic Czarist Russia, with Confucian China of the Manchus, with the peculiarities of the Ottoman Turks, with all sorts of varieties of peoples. "Co-existence" is a normal state of mankind.

Russia, however, presents the broader problem of the Marxist Church which seeks to dominate the thinking of the entire human race in conformity with Marxism-Leninism, with what they regard as the science of history. In the economic field, they accept Socialism which is not rejected in whole or in part by any nation in the Western world; but economics is a small part of the Marxist doctrine which proclaims itself a complete philosophy of life, touching man in all his activities.

The four phases of Marxism which have proved, during the past 37 years, to be most attractive to younger people and have won adherents in every country are:

1. The "scientific" approach to the position of man in the Cosmos, namely, that man is a product of his environment, of the constant struggle for existence of everything that is upon this earth; that the habits of man are determined by the tools he uses to earn his keep, thus eliminating all absolutes in morals and ethics;
2. That religion per se is an opiate of the people, a device invented by the ruling classes for those who are to be subjected to their will, that mysticism is an evil because it deceives and that therefore a mystical God is a myth because its presence cannot be substantiated by the "scientific methods"; that varieties of religion are not permissible in a Communist society because in all such differences lie the seeds of war;
3. That race is "scientifically" unfounded; that varieties of color or hair structure, or skull measurements do not establish racial distinctions that are of significance in a Marxist world; that racism has been employed by ruling powers to establish colonialism, that is, to make it possible for the Western Europeans to prevail over Asiatic, African, and American peoples;
4. That nationality is an evil because it makes for war; that whereas peoples do have different languages and customs, ultimately the whole of the human race will be one; that boundary lines will be eliminated and varieties of governmental processes will be no more. When this goal is reached, government itself will be unnecessary and will wither away.

Arnold Toynbee makes this point: "Communism is politically formidable to us Westerners today because it is politically attractive to anyone who is being treated as a 'native.' Any human being will revolt against being treated as a 'native.' For the millions who are still being treated as 'natives' today, communism is an obvious remedy, because they have come to know that, if they go Communist, they will not be treated as 'natives' any longer."

That explains only one phase of the problem. It does not explain why so many among the intellectuals in the most advanced countries, France, Italy, Germany, the United States, are prepared to ally themselves with the Communists and to make sacrifices for this movement, sacrifices sometimes of their lives.

The Inheritors
By JANE ABBOTT

SYNOPSIS
At 86, Josh Trevett makes his will, leaving an equal share of his rambling farm in New York state to each of his three sons, Hester Wilmer, Miss Jennie Todd and his nephew, Tom Todd. But to acquire final title, each must remain three months on the land, those leaving sooner relinquishing their share or shares to the final "resident." Josh also assigns an acre with tiny cottage, Do Gary Norbeck, a stranger who came to live there. Shortly after making his will, Josh falls from a rafter in his bathroom and is killed. At a girl's school in Cleveland, Ohio, where she is house-mother, Jennie receives news of her father's death and relishes the prospect of living on a farm. But having to give up social plans for her debutante daughter, Enid, so as to benefit by her father's will, but Hester means to benefit and to get Norbeck's share of the land. And since the whereabouts of nephew Tom Todd, a wanderer, is unknown, his teen-age daughter, Cindy, also in a distant city, plans to claim her father's share of the estate. She is hopeful at last of meeting with the kin she'd never known.

CHAPTER SIX
DAN DOOLEY, who had gone no further in school than the seventh grade, and Tommy Todd, a graduate from Penn State, had met in a pool room in Binghamton, New York. Strangely, so unlike, they had become good friends. Dan had been won by Tommy's high spirits and quick thinking; Tommy, by recognizing in Dan a man of staunch, blind loyalty. They had remained good friends, even though sometimes months passed without their meeting and even though Tommy had taken to ways of making a living very different from Dan's—though Dan, more than once, thinking back, had had to admit that except for Brigit that night he had not been so.

Brigit and he had no children so they had taken little Cindy gladly, loved her as though she were their own. They had kept from her the truth of Tommy's activities. Once, when Cindy questioned him, Dan had told her that her father was a business expert. "He goes all over the country showing people how to run things."

Dan made a decision. He said to Brigit: "She's quitting. Quitting this night."

Brigit stared at him. "How come? But she's taking home a wad of tips."

She was—she dumped them into Brigit's lap each night, proudly, gleefully.

Dan drew up his heavy shoulders, put one hand over an inner pocket where he had carried the lawyer's letter, along with the telegram, for over a week, because he did not know how to get it to Tommy.

"She's come into an inheritance. An uncle, east, in New York state. She's going to the place to live. She don't have to tote trays and take anything from anybody, no more."

Benny smiled. "Heard Tommy was in a jam over in St. Louis. How does it look for him?"

"He's got out of worse. How soon can the kid get off?"

"Five minutes."

After what seemed a long time Cindy came out, dressed now in her own plaid skirt and a blue sweater, a beret on her head. She was carrying a big bunch of yellow roses.

"Hi, Dan! Good-night, Benny."

Try, Stop Me

Bertrand Russell, famous English philosopher, took unto himself a beautiful child bride in the autumn of his life. As was her custom, she listened in silence one night while her husband, Dr. Einstein, and several other savants batted around some obscure philosophical concepts. When she repaired to the kitchen, however, to prepare some refreshments, she reported wonderfully to the maid, "Heavens to Betsy, the boys are being smart tonight!"

Why the proofreader on a small Illinois paper was given a very rapid leave-ho: "The popular Skook River bride is to be resurfaced with brick, laid herringbone style on a bed of sand with a concrete mixture in the joints."

Wonder what ever happened to that Colonel Stoopnagle invention of a lint suit that picked up blue serge?

Hordes of black land frogs have been engaged in a battle to the death with brown water frogs in North Malayan jungle, according to a report from Singapore. The croaking on both sides, we understand, was positively ghastly.

Latest war communique on the frog fracas had the Brownies winning over the Blackies. Got the jump on 'em, it seems.

WHY ALL THE JOKES?

NOW THAT mother-in-law jokes have become a dime a dozen a research organization has been looking into the subject, in an effort to ascertain what is responsible for in-law trouble.

In some circles mothers-in-law seem to stand indicted for a large percentage of broken marriages resulting from outside interference. Of the 1,337 men and women quizzed in the survey 65 per cent reported unhappy experiences which they attributed to mother-in-law interference and possessiveness.

It was learned, furthermore, that mothers act differently about marriages of sons and daughters. When a daughter marries mother seems to abandon her to her fate. In fact, her sympathies in many cases are with the husband, strange as this may seem. But let a son take a wife and mother immediately insists on dominating the new household, and trouble often follows.

It must be said in her behalf that the mother-in-law is up against a real problem. If she leaves her married children alone, she is accused of being neglectful. If she tries to be nice, she is accused of being two-faced. And if she tries to be helpful in any way, her efforts may be misconstrued as meddlingness.

She does come in handy, however, as a baby sitter. Apparently the survey did not find the answer to the problem, and mother-in-law jokes will continue to make their appearance as heretofore.

SENSELESS SADISM

RED CHINA'S conviction of 13 Americans, mostly fliers, on so-called espionage charges is part of communism's heartless game of holding back hostages, which it can play on the checkerboard of international relations when the spirit moves it.

The inhumanity of such life-demeaning behavior never ceases to shock freedom-loving peoples. But hardly does an American recover from one incident when another is brashly trumpeted on the world stage.

The U. S. State Department is registering the strongest possible protest in indirect diplomatic channels, since this country could not under any circumstances recognize the Peiping government. The irony in the situation is that the men have already been in communist custody for two years or longer, and now face seemingly endless years of bondage. The Chinese game, it would appear, is to twist Uncle Sam's arm so that he will accord their rotten regime a greater degree of diplomatic intercourse.

If that's really their motives, they show an incredible lack of understanding of American temperament and character. But the mass incarceration may well be inspired by the senseless sadism of the unruly little runt throwing rocks at his neighbor's house.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
news behind the news

WASHINGTON — Prime Minister Nehru of India is largely responsible for the White House decision to extend far greater economic aid to Asian, Middle East and South American countries, assuming that Congress approves the new project. Another indirect sponsor of the movement is Premier Yoshida of Japan, who visited Washington recently.

As a result of their warnings, given to Secretary John Foster Dulles by Yoshida and to our diplomatic representatives at New Delhi by Nehru, the Eisenhower Administration will shift the emphasis on overseas assistance from the military to the bread-and-butter realm.

Communism can be kept from converting 600 million Asians, in the two statesmen's judgment, only if the West can demonstrate that it has a better and more satisfying prescription for economic security and improvement—for filling empty stomachs—than Russia can offer.

COMPETITION—A State Department spokesman, talking off

the record about the new program recently unveiled by President Eisenhower and by Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey at Rio de Janeiro, says that it will amount to "competitive" rather than "peaceful coexistence" with Moscow.

In other words, when the anti-Communist coalition's need for soldiers and weapons is filled with implementation of the Western European Union early next year, as expected, the United States will supply butter. It will try to prove that our system of society and government have both a material and spiritual superiority over the Soviet's regime.

Nehru and Yoshida are opposed to Communist totalitarianism, brutality and disregard of the individual's civil rights. But Russia's and China's economic progress under iron rule has had a definite impact on them, and on their backward peoples. Their countries' proximity to Russia makes them virtual onlookers and spectators of the Soviet's "bootstrap experiment."

SACRIFICES—Nehru and Yo-

By Ray Tucker

ADVANCES — On returning from his recent visit to Peiping, Nehru admitted publicly that he was impressed by that country's economic advances, with Russian help. He said that the American and Communist economic systems were on trial, with Russia and China as a laboratory.

He indicated that India's decision to side with the democracies or the dictatorships might depend on the outcome of this economic conflict. His remarks were widely quoted in Moscow and in Washington.

Moscow is winning the race at the moment. She is giving China far more than the United States is advancing to any Asiatic country, building factories, railroads, docks, public utilities.

Russia's own capital investment is increasing at the rate of six per cent a year, twice as much as in the U. S., and four or five times as fast as in Britain, France, Japan, India, etc.

TAMMANY — 1954 has been a bizarre political year. But the strangest performance, perhaps, is the selection of a university professor as a district leader of Tammany Hall.

To the politicians, this "new look" in New York City means that Tammany Leader Carmine G. de Sapio intends to break into national politics, with Gov. Averell Harriman as his candidate against Adlai E. Stevenson for the presidential nomination in 1956.

Degree Work Is Scheduled By Traveling Grange Teams

Scioto Valley Will Host First Session

During a business meeting of Scioto Valley Grange, a letter from County Deputy John Dowler was read, announcing a series of Traveling Grange Degree Work.

Degree work will be held on the first meeting night of each of the eight subordinate Granges. All Granges having candidates in waiting are expected to bring those persons to these meetings to receive the necessary degree work.

The first Grange to be host under this new set-up will be Scioto Valley Grange on Dec. 14, when the first degree will be put on by Washington Grange, and the second degree by Scioto Valley Grange. All other Grange members, as well as those receiving the degree work, are cordially invited to attend.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, a Thanksgiving program was presented by the Lecturer, Edgar Melick. The program opened with the group singing the Thanksgiving hymn, "Come Ye Thankful People, Come." This was followed by a waist-measuring skit, conducted by Robert Dennis. Mrs. Chester Fausnaugh led a Thanksgiving quiz.

An original pantomime, written and directed by the lecturer, was presented. Leroy Herron served as narrator and Mrs. Herron, Susan Herron, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fausnaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fausnaugh, Miss Fern Dennis and Robert Dennis portrayed the various characters in the three scenes presented.

The message of the pantomime was further high-lighted by a Thanksgiving address given by the Rev. Paul Lindsay, of the South Bloomfield charge. The Grange Chaplain, Mrs. Walter Berger, closed the meeting with a Thanksgiving prayer.

The Pomona Grange Master, Hoyt Timmons, and Mrs. Timmons were among those present. Refreshments for the evening were served by Mrs. Herman Berger and her committee.

Army Helps Care For Needy Cases

Emergency Relief Organization Has Achieved Quiet Success

Most of the general public in Pickaway County and elsewhere has been unaware of the setup, but the U. S. Army has a relatively new organization to take care of its own special needy cases.

Details of the operation, as explained by the Army itself, may be of particular importance to soldiers and their dependents at this season of the year. It was emphasized that the organization works along with, but does not take the place of, other agencies which also stand ready to help the men and women in service. The Army tells the story this way:

By giving emergency financial aid, an organization known as Army Emergency Relief assists thousands of soldiers and their families during periods of distress.

FINANCIAL aid given by AER is made possible primarily by voluntary contributions from U. S. Army officers and soldiers throughout the world. Once each year, Army members are asked to make a small contribution to help continue this instrument of welfare and morale.

Indicative of its success is the fact that since its organization in 1942, AER has disbursed more than $26 million in loans and grants to more than 270,000 persons.

Last year AER aid totaled $2 million to some 20,000 persons. This year, current expenditure rates indicate the total will reach $3 million to 30,000 members of the Army and their families.

Ways in which AER has been able to ease the weight of tragedy or to lighten the burden of unusual family responsibilities are illustrated in a few typical cases from the files of AER.

Upon a sergeant had fallen the burden of paying for a series of operations when his mother became seriously ill. His request for financial aid was met by a loan of $600 and an outright grant of $600.

IN THE case of another soldier a loan of $500 was authorized to defray funeral expenses of his mother, a dependent, and also to pay hospital and doctor's bills of his wife at birth of their fourth child. He was unable to meet these emergencies without help and AER came to his rescue.

A grant of $685 was made to a sergeant, who was serving in Germany to assist his wife and five children when their home in the United States and nearly all their possessions were destroyed by fire.

Another soldier's problem was solved by a $500 loan to help pay for emergency transportation of his wife back to the United States after she had been notified that her father had suffered a heart attack and was expected to live a few days.

His wife was an only child and her mother was an invalid. Round-trip expense to their home in California was $800, but the sergeant was able to furnish only $300. One hour after the AER officer had been informed of the situation, the sergeant was given a $500 loan and his wife was on her way to the United States.

Assistance in the amount of $250 was given to a sergeant in order to permit a delicate operation on an infant child who was born with a serious deformity. The operation was a success; the child is recuperating and now has a chance to live a normal life.

A lieutenant was loaned $250 to employ help to care for his two children while his wife recovers from an attack of polio.

MONEY LOANED by AER is repaid at the financial convenience of the borrower. There are no interest charges. In the case of outright grants, there are case histories on file where soldiers, financially on their feet again, insisted on assuming the debt, although they were under no obligation to do so.

Since its inception in 1942, AER has expanded its facilities to keep in touch with Army forces throughout the world. This worldwide deployment and consequent dislocation of service families has brought into being 189 AER operating sections.

One hundred and thirteen sections are located on Army posts in the United States, the remaining 76 sections overseas.

Today AER stands ready to meet the emergency needs of Army people in Germany, France, England, Austria, Iceland, Canada, Korea, Japan, Okinawa, Panama, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Thailand, Brazil, Africa, Alaska, the Antilles and the Caribbean.

Experience shows that most causes for financial assistance arise because of:

1. Non-receipt of pay, allotment or allowances.
2. Loss of pay.
3. Acute illness when government facilities for treatment or hospitalization are not available.

4. Funeral expenses of dependents.

5. Travel expenses due to emergencies.

6. Payment of initial rent, or payment to prevent eviction.

7. Privations of dependents due to any cause.

First Section of All-Concrete Ohio Turnpike Opens... On Schedule!

The 21.4-mile Eastgate section of the Ohio Turnpike is now officially open... on schedule.

Toward this end, the Ohio Turnpike Commission chose concrete for the 241-mile route from the Pennsylvania border to the Indiana line.

Concrete is the safest pavement for these two reasons: 1. Its gritty, highly skid-resistant surface permits quicker stops in emergencies, even though the pavement is wet. 2. Its light color reflects up to four times more light than dark-colored pavement, providing better visibility at night, when most accidents occur. Remember, if you can't see when driving, you just can't be safe.

Concrete on the turnpike also will save users millions of dollars. That's because concrete is the most economical pavement.

After analyzing competitive designs for the turnpike pavement, engineers found it would cost $2,803,000 less to build it with concrete.

Plan to travel this all-concrete Eastgate section of the Ohio Turnpike soon. Treat yourself to the pleasant experience of driving on a safe, smooth-riding pavement typical of the type needed on hundreds of miles of your Ohio road system.

Chance Seen December To Set Record

Retail Tradesmen Eye
Yule Trade For Hike
In Cash Register Sound

NEW YORK (AP)—A home-stretch spurt can make December the best month of this year in industry and trade.

Merchants have high hopes that Christmas retail trade will top last year's figures. And industrial output, in spite of a slowdown for the holiday, may hit its best pace of the year.

Although it started out lamely, 1954 can still make a good showing when it crosses the 12-month wire.

First reports from the stores tell of good Christmas traffic and the apparently generous mood of the public. The magazine sales management predicts December retail sales will total $16,900,000,000. This would be three per cent above the year ago dollar volume.

Merchants this year are wooing customers ardently with advertising and price promotions. Finding prices either stable or a trifle lower, customers are believed to be in the mood this year to buy.
Last year many were waiting in expectation of big price breaks, which never came.

Forecasts of an industrial activity spurt this month are based largely on the early start the auto makers got with their new models.
The industry plans to turn out more cars this December than in any other month this year.

A further rise in steel production and in a number of other industries is also looked for. As a result, the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York notes, "for the first time since early 1953 general business appears to be rising at a more -than-seasonal rate." It sees "a strong possibility of a further gain in December."

Purchasing agents report that in many industries new orders are now coming in faster than production is rising.

The steel operating rate has risen above 80 per cent of capacity, the American Iron Steel Institute reports, and output is higher than at any time since early December 1953. Steel companies, now booking orders for January, say orders are piling in faster than earlier expected.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines forecasts an increase this month in the amount of crude oil that will be consumed here or exported. The bureau thinks the total will average out at 6½ million barrels a day.

The Federal Reserve Board looks for the December spurt in business activity to lift the year's total dollar volume of goods and services to 356 billion dollars. This would be only 2½ per cent under 1953's gross national product, a record 365 billion.

The factory hiring rate has been rising this fall contrary to the usual seasonal pattern, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports. The expanding business activity is expected to keep employment high in December and make work weeks

a little longer, and pay checks fatter.

The jobless total may rise in January and February—it almost always does on a seasonal pattern.

But from now till Christmas the total of spendable incomes should rise slightly. And more money around usually means increased retail trade.

It also usually leads lenders to be easier in setting installment terms and extending credit. The money managers in Washington also apparently intend to keep money easy for awhile as the business recovery takes root.

CHS Drops Basketball Opener To Athens By Only One Point

Circleville's invasion of Athens Tuesday night for the season's basketball opener came within one lone point of being a winning effort for the local lads.

Athens finally came out on the winning end of a 55 to 54 score. CHS led for two of the three periods prior to the final game; they were ahead 47 to 38 at the three-quarter mark.

Jay Curry and Eddie Tomlinson shared scoring honors with 16 points along with Ronnie Williams of Athens. Curry showed that he is a good rebound man.

In the reserve game, the Tigers were also nosed out 40 to 37. Bill Johnson, the tall and slender center for CHS, dropped in 14 points to lead both teams in scoring.

THE CHS VARSITY showed a marked improvement in foul shooting. In the scrimmage with Junction City last Friday night, the Tigers only made good on three foul shots. But in the Athens game they made good 20 times.

The entire CHS team shows signs of being a good team despite a very rugged schedule. With no seniors and only one returning letterman, the Tigers face a tough task.

A six-round heavyweight match at Martins Ferry Dec. 11 will be refereed by heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano. Herb Fair of Steubenville and Gene White of St. Paul, Minn., will be paired.

A 16-year-old basketball player at Newtown, Pa., High School died last night during a varsity practice session. The county coroner said John M. Allen of Riverton, N. J., suffered a rupture of a small blood vessel in the brain.

New Yorkers Winding Up Ring Hearings
NEW YORK (AP)—The State Athletic Commission expects to wind up its current boxing hearings in a final session Friday morning but that may not be the last word in the investigation of charges and countercharges made by two rival manager groups.

Commission Chairman Robert Christenberry said much of the information gathered at the five sessions will be turned over to the district attorney's office along with any other information picked up by the commission's investigators.

"We're going to eliminate undesirable activities tending to bring the sport into disrepute," said Christenberry at the end of the fourth session yesterday.

He then announced that a new rule aimed to control the "booking" of fights by managers' representatives would be put into effect immediately. From now on any manager who negotiates for another manager's fighter and the promoter with whom he deals will have to disclose all details, including financial facts, on a commission form.

This regulation was added after Manager Al Braverman, president of the Metropolitan Boxing Alliance, had his indefinite suspension lifted. Braverman had admitted "booking" matches for many out-of-town managers.

The commission also reinstated Manager Gus D'Amato, collector of the $100 television "donations" for the New York Boxing Managers Guild. Christenberry said the commission had found no evidence that payments were made under duress.

Top U.S. Netters To Play In Finals

MELBOURNE (AP)—America's top Davis Cuppers, Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert, powered their way into the doubles final of the Victoria tennis championships today. They fought an uphill struggle to defeat Australia's Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall in five fierce sets 10-12, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Seixas and Trabert now will meet Rex Hartwig and Vervyn Rose, Australia's Wimbledon champions, in the doubles final. Hartwig and Rose earlier had whipped Ham Richardson, another U. S. Davis Cupper paired with Aussie Neale Fraser.

LaStarza of New York, once the top-ranked heavyweight contender, will be opening a comeback drive in a 10-rounder against a crude but hard-hitting opponent, Charlie Norkus, of Port Washington, N. Y.

That bout will be televised from the Arena by CBS at 10 p. m.

Cleveland's Castellani, like La Starza a fancy boxer, meets Moses Ward, of Detroit, another middleweight who counts more on punch-land power than a footwork skill. That fight also is scheduled for 10 rounds.

The experienced La Starza was a 3-2 favorite over the wild-swinging Norkus. Castellani was favored over Ward, 9-5.

La Starza has been out of action since he lost a close one to England's Don Cockell in London last March 30. In 1953 La Starza was stopped in 11

Motorists Warned By Safety Council

Yule Season Hazards Cited;
Driving Tests Set For Dec. 15

For a merrier Christmas, drive with special care during the holiday season.

This appeal was made to motorists by the National Safety Council as it opened its annual Christmas safety campaign.

It also served as a reminder that, on Dec. 15, motorists in Circleville and the surrounding areas will be in a special public spotlight for a 24-hour period. On that day, a nationwide effort will be made to hold all types of traffic accidents to a new all-time low.

The Christmas-New Year holiday season is the most hazardous single period of the year, according to the safety council. Twice as many persons are killed in traffic accidents at this time as on the same days of the preceding two weeks. Causes of the extra dangers and higher tolls are heavier travel and the festive spirit of the season, plus the usual winter hazards of bad weather, slippery roads and more hours of darkness.

In an effort to reduce these Yuletide accidents to a minimum, city and state officials, civic leaders, safety councils and 163 organizations again are joining with the council in listing the cooperation of every motorist and pedestrian.

IN ADDITION, the President's action Committee for Traffic Safety has designated Wednesday, Dec. 15, as "S-D Day" or "Safe Driving Day."

Purpose of the day will be to show that motorists and pedestrian

can reduce traffic accidents by their own actions, and to demonstrate that the community is the place to attack the traffic safety problem.

An all-out national effort will be made to hold traffic accidents to a minimum.

Mayor Bob Hedges has announced that Circleville will participate in the test and that Ray Friend will serve as director of the effort in this locality.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, said the Christmas season can be faced with optimism but not complacency. He pointed out that the Fourth of July and Labor Day holiday periods brought substantially fewer deaths than had been expected.

"No one waved a magic wand for the Fourth of July or Labor Day," Dearborn said. "The good records came about because motorists generally recognized that holidays are hazardous days. Christmas, the most dangerous of all our major holidays, will require the same care on the highway."

SPECIFICALLY, the safety council offered the following tips for holiday driving:

1. Respect the weather. Adjust your speed to road and weather conditions.
2. Keep your windshield clear, and use tire chains for severe snow and ice conditions.
3. Brake intermittently—don't lock the wheels—when the road surface is slippery.
4. Follow other vehicles at a safe distance.
5. Allow plenty of time to make your trip without hurrying.
6. By all means, don't drive after drinking.

Hope Abandoned For Trapped Man

ST. CLAIR, Pa. (AP)—A second rock slide has forced rescue crews to abandon hope of reaching a trapped coal miner alive in a 280-foot-deep anthracite shaft here.

Crews of 16 men each were working in alternating shifts around the clock until the second rock fall yesterday in the shaft where Frank Pescavage, 37, of Gilberton, was trapped Monday.

Mine Inspector Timothy Ryan said it might be a month now before Pescavage could be reached.

Motorists Warned By Safety Council

Yule Season Hazards Cited;
Driving Tests Set For Dec. 15

For a merrier Christmas, drive with special care during the holiday season.

This appeal was made to motorists by the National Safety Council as it opened its annual Christmas safety campaign.

It also served as a reminder that, on Dec. 15, motorists in Circleville and the surrounding areas will be in a special public spotlight for a 24-hour period. On that day, a nationwide effort will be made to hold all types of traffic accidents to a new all-time low.

The Christmas-New Year holiday season is the most hazardous single period of the year, according to the safety council. Twice as many persons are killed in traffic accidents at this time as on the same days of the preceding two weeks. Causes of the extra dangers and higher tolls are heavier travel and the festive spirit of the season, plus the usual winter hazards of bad weather, slippery roads and more hours of darkness.

In an effort to reduce these Yuletide accidents to a minimum, city and state officials, civic leaders, safety councils and 163 organizations again are joining with the council in listing the cooperation of every motorist and pedestrian.

Purpose of the day will be to show that motorists and pedestrian

can reduce traffic accidents by their own actions, and to demonstrate that the community is the place to attack the traffic safety problem.

An all-out national effort will be made to hold traffic accidents to a minimum.

Mayor Bob Hedges has announced that Circleville will participate in the test and that Ray Friend will serve as director of the effort in this locality.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, said the Christmas season can be faced with optimism but not complacency. He pointed out that the Fourth of July and Labor Day holiday periods brought substantially fewer deaths than had been expected.

"No one waved a magic wand for the Fourth of July or Labor Day," Dearborn said. "The good records came about because motorists generally recognized that holidays are hazardous days. Christmas, the most dangerous of all our major holidays, will require the same care on the highway."

SPECIFICALLY, the safety council offered the following tips for holiday driving:

1. Respect the weather. Adjust your speed to road and weather conditions.
2. Keep your windshield clear, and use tire chains for severe snow and ice conditions.
3. Brake intermittently—don't lock the wheels—when the road surface is slippery.
4. Follow other vehicles at a safe distance.
5. Allow plenty of time to make your trip without hurrying.
6. By all means, don't drive after drinking.

Hope Abandoned For Trapped Man

ST. CLAIR, Pa. (AP)—A second rock slide has forced rescue crews to abandon hope of reaching a trapped coal miner alive in a 280-foot-deep anthracite shaft here.

Crews of 16 men each were working in alternating shifts around the clock until the second rock fall yesterday in the shaft where Frank Pescavage, 37, of Gilberton, was trapped Monday.

Mine Inspector Timothy Ryan said it might be a month now before Pescavage could be reached.

Ohio Idle List Shows Increase

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported today there were an estimated 12,151 newly unemployed claimants for compensation for the week ending Nov. 27, compared to 11,852 the previous week.

Claimants unemployed one week or more totaled an estimated 75,618 compared to 79,018 the previous week. These figures do not include those who have received maximum compensation payments and still may be unemployed.

In large, metropolitan areas new claimants for the week ending Nov. 27 were 7,108, compared with 7,476 the previous week.

U.S. Seeking World Opinion Against China

Ike's Main Plan Shuns Urgings For Use Of More Direct Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Steady pressure aimed at arousing world feelings shaped up today as the main U. S. plan for winning release of 13 Americans jailed by Red China, despite new urging for more direct action.

Support for a tougher approach came from Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).
He declared he is "in complete sympathy" with the proposal of Senate Majority Leader Knowland of California to blockade the China coast.

He said he doubted a single American warship would be needed to create a blockade. He suggested the United States should impose one by telling its allies they would get no more aid as long as they kept shipping goods to Communist China.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said he is opposed to any blockade but the United States should "pursue Russia as much as we can to use her influence with the puppet Peiping government" to halt aggressive acts.

SECRETARY of State Dulles' short-of-war strategy for liberating the 11 U. S. airmen and two Army-employed civilians appeared to center on the marshaling of world opinion.

Dulles said during his Chicago speech Monday night that the United States would "exhaust peaceful means of sustaining our international rights and those of our citizens."

He ruled out, with backing from the White House made public yesterday, any "war action such as a naval and air blockade of Red China."

Knowland declared he saw no great break between him and the administration on that score, but only a difference of opinion.

McCarthy said that if Allied nations were told they must halt all shipments to Red China or lose U. S. aid, he believed it would bring about the release of not only the 13 imprisoned airmen but also other Americans held in China.

"According to the military," he said, "they hold over 500 of our unarmed men." The U. S. government has demanded an accounting of Peiping for 526 missing American servicemen.

He said if such a measure didn't work, he would favor the blockade advocated by Knowland.

OTHER POSSIBLE avenues for the U. S. short-of-war effort included further use of the British communications with Red China, whom Washington does not recognize diplomatically, or even a request that the Russians use their good offices.
The matter could also be taken up in the U. N.

In any event, one problem facing U. S. officials was this: Should their actions be directed at seeking freedom for the 13 recently imprisoned or should they go whole hog and demand the release of all American citizens believed to be held inside China.

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A federal grand jury was called to session here today to investigate the slay-ing of William W. Remington, former government economist convicted of perjury in a Communist espionage case.

Two physicians who tried vainly to save the 37-year-old economist's life at Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary last week, were slated to testify on Remington's injuries.
They are Dr. Charles Tomlinson, prison physician, and Dr. Leon Wit-kin of Milton, Pa.

Dr. Witkin was called to the prison when Remington's condition became critical after he was beaten with a half-brick encased in a rock Nov. 22. He died of a skull fracture Nov. 24.

Three convicts are charged with Remington's death. They are Lewis
Cagle Jr., 17, Chattanooga, Tenn.; George Junior McCoy, 34, Grundy, Va.; and Robert Carl Parker, 21, Washington.

Remington, a former Commerce Department official, was accused of lying when he denied he ever passed secrets to Communists. He was serving a three-year term.

James V. Bennett, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, has said more than one motive may have been involved.

DICK NASH, 14, Sharpsville, Ind., displays Blackie, winner of the junior barrow championship at the International Livestock show in Chicago. Blackie is a 240-pound Hampshire.

Senators Nearing Decision On Censure Of McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A vote to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) seems in the cards as the Senate approaches the hour of decision.

With voting slated to start late today, McCarthy himself predicted a "completely one-sided" verdict against him.

Democratic senators said privately they expected their ranks to hold virtually solid for censure.
Republicans were forecasting a close division in their lineup.

Since GOP and Democratic strength in the 96-man Senate is about equal a Republican split could swing the majority vote needed for censure.

Under a unanimous consent agreement adopted at McCarthy's request, limits on debate start at 3 p. m. While this heralds some voting today, the final showdown of the extraordinary session begun
Nov. 8 is not expected until tomorrow or perhaps Friday.

Zanesville Bus Drivers Strike

ZANESVILLE (AP)—This city of 40,000 people was without bus service today.

Some 41 drivers of the Zanesville Rapid Transit Co., along with a number of mechanics, members of a local independent union, failed to report to work after their contract with the company expired last midnight.

The company, because of falling revenues, had asked the drivers and mechanics to take a 10 per cent pay reduction, and the employees declined. Bus drivers currently are paid $1.41 per hour.

There was no immediate plans for negotiations.

OK Predicted For Extension Of Draft Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four senators agreed today that the next Congress will extend the draft act but differed over other parts of the Pentagon's new manpower plans.

Secretary of Defense Wilson outlined the program yesterday:

It will call for a four-year extension of the draft law, a modified form of Universal Military Training that will provide for long and short-term draftees, more pay for long-service men and little change in the historic reserve and National Guard setup.

Wilson said that while some details remain to be settled President Eisenhower will present the plan in his State of the Union message to the new Congress in January.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee and two committeemen, Senators Stennis (D-Miss.) and Case (R-SD), agreed that Wilson would get a sympathetic hearing when he takes his case before the group.

"I heartily believe that an improved reserve program is necessary," Saltonstall added, saying he had "tried five times" to get the Pentagon to submit details on it during the current session of Congress. The current draft act, passed in 1951, expires April 30.

WHILE CONCURRING with the other three senators that the selective service law should be extended, Sen. Long (D-La.) said he doubts Congress would OK what he described as a new version of the Universal Military Training program Congress has turned down several times in recent years.

"As one who previously supported UMT," he said, "I think it can't be done."

Wilson said the manpower program now planned calls for a double system of induction through the selective service. Most young men (nearly 300,000 a year at the current rate) would be drafted for two years of active duty, then go into the organized reserve.

Then, to build up the reserve, another 50,000 to 100,000 would be inducted for a four to six-month basic training period and then automatically become members of the ready reserve.

There would be two major distinctions between the short and longer term draftees:

1. The short-termers would not classify as "veterans according to the latest Pentagon thinking, and thus would not qualify for most veterans benefits.

2. The 24-month selectees would spend less time in the organized reserves while the short-termers would be on call for emergency active duty for a year or two longer.

Wilson said the new program was intended to induce men to stay in uniform longer. He spoke in terms of a pay increase amounting to from 3 to 5 per cent, costing up to $600 million a year.

Pentagon aides said the raise might exclude men who serve only the minimum two years, leaving more money to be given longer term and career specialists.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Marcus Follansbee, president of Follansbee Steel Corp., says no immediate action is planned on the contested sale of the company to a New York financier until a formal court order blocking the sale is received.

Federal Judge Herbert Boreman issued an opinion Monday as a basis for an order halting the proposed sale of the firm's physical assets to Frederick W. Richmond for $9,286,000.

Japan Premier Battles Hard Against Critics

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Shi-geru Yoshida, in stinging replies to his critics, said today, "It is very necessary for the Japanese to know the real menace of the Communist offensive."

And he snapped at opponents seeking to oust him: "The Liberal party will decide when and whether I should step down."

The 76-year-old leader fought back at critics who attacked him for being too "pro-American."

"It is necessary to oppose communism," he said. "If that is called alignment with America only, I say all the free world is aligned with Communism only."

To questioners who urged expansion of trade with the Communists, he declared:

"The Communist radicals pour surgar-coated words at Japanese ears," he said. "At the same time, the Communist radiobeacons beamed to Southeast Asia tell them Japan is being reared for renewed aggression under American instigation. It is foolish to buy Communist words at face value."

"Russia and China," he said,
"have been unable to export to earn foreign exchange. If they have no foreign exchange, how can we expect them to buy anything from us?"

Yoshida refused to give his critics any hint of his retirement plans.
He has agreed to step down as president of his Liberal party, with the broad hint that this also would mean he would retire from the prime ministership.

Ohio Opens First Section Of Its 241-Mile Turnpike

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—A new era in Ohio highway transportation began today.

Ohio and Pennsylvania joined in dedicating and opening the 22-mile Eastgate section of the Ohio Turnpike in Mahoning County, first such roadway in the state.

The Eastgate section, first portion of the 241-mile Northern Ohio Turnpike opened to traffic, provides a direct link with the Pennsylvania Turnpike at the Ohio-Pennsylvania line a few miles west of Petersburg, Ohio.

Turnpike officials called the occasion an historic one, labelling it the beginning of the eastern turnpike system which by 1957 will provide a limited-access, multiple-lane, divided expressway all the way from New York to Chicago via the turnpikes of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana.

Upon completion on Oct. 1, 1955, Ohio's turnpike will link the eastern turnpikes with those planned or under construction in Indiana and Illinois.

James W. Shocknessy, chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission, said it was possible the remainder of the Ohio turnpike would be opened in sections before Oct. 1, 1955.

However, he said he "would bet his hat" the entire turnpike was open by Oct. 1 next year.

Shocknessy said the speed limit for the Eastgate section and the entire Ohio pike, when opened, would be 65 mph for passenger cars and would be enforced rigidly.

A series of ceremonies for the occasion began at the Niles-Youngstown interchange at U. S. 18, and included programs at the Youngstown interchange at U. S. 7, Eastgate terminal and the Ohio-Pennsylvania line.

Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche greeted Pennsylvania Gov. John S. Fine at the state line.

The governors, with Shocknessy and T. J. Evans, chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, participated in ribbon-cutting ceremonies marking the first physical joining of toll roads of two states.

A luncheon at the Youngstown Country Club for more than 300 officials of both states followed opening ceremonies.

Gov. Lausche spoke at each of the toll plazas and at the country club. The governor signaled the Eastgate terminal to open the Ohio pike to toll traffic during a radio broadcast at the country club.

The Eastgate section opened today extends from near Petersburg, Ohio, where it links up with the Pennsylvania turnpike, to a point west of Youngstown.

It is the first portion of the $326 million Northern Ohio Turnpike to be opened to the public. The western terminus of the Ohio toll road will be near Columbia, Ohio, at the Indiana border in the northwestern corner of the state.

The Ohio toll road provides two reinforced concrete roadways, each 24 feet wide, consisting of two 12-foot lanes in each direction with a center dividing strip 56 feet wide.

Toll charges for passenger vehicles will figure out 1.24 cents per mile for the 241-mile distance.
Those using the 22-mile Eastgate section today will pay 25 cents between Eastgate and Youngstown interchange, and 30 cents between Eastgate and the Niles-Youngstown interchange west of Youngstown. Trucks with four axles will pay $1.45 for the Eastgate-Niles-Youngstown interchange distance, and trucks with more than four axles will pay $1.90.

Cincinnati Prosecutor Sees Vote Theft In Senate Race

CINCINNATI (AP)—C. Watson Holter, Hamilton County prosecutor, said here today there is "indication of outright vote stealing" in the counting of votes after the election last Nov. 2 in the senatorial contest between Sen. Thomas A. Burke and Rep. George H. Bender.

He said an investigation by the board of elections and the county prosecutor's office will begin immediately after a recount of the Burke-Bender vote is completed.

Sen. Burke, Democrat, showed a net gain of 1,577 votes in Ohio today, near the mid-mark of a 25-county recount.

Burke demanded the recount in an attempt to overcome the 6,941 vote victory margin of his Republican opponent, George H.
Bender.

Secretary of State Ted W.
Brown's office reported that the first 41 precincts recounted in Hamilton County gave Burke a net gain of 55 votes. Burke has charged widespread irregularities in the Nov. 2 election in Hamilton County, where Bender got a 37,000-vote margin.

The Hamilton County election board today turned down Burke forces' request that they be allowed to name their own counters.

The first 866 Cuyahoga County precincts recounted gave Burke a net gain of 810 votes, and 206 precincts in Franklin County gave him another 110 votes.

BROWN'S OFFICE reported recounts completed in nine counties.
Bender had a net gain in two of them, eight votes in Ashland County and 20 votes in Muskingum County.

Burke gained in the other counties where recounts are complete.
He picked up 19 votes in Belmont County, 48 in Butler, 15 in Greene, six in Licking, 13 in Medina, 14 in Putnam and 27 in Scioto. Burke also gained 80 votes in Jefferson County where recounting is complete except for one precinct where ballots are in dispute.

Burke forces said they expected their biggest boost from Hamilton County.

Brown went to Cincinnati last night and planned to watch the Hamilton County tabulation firsthand.

Recounts started last night in Putnam and Columbiana counties.
Early reports at Columbiana County showed a Bender gain of 13 votes with 54 of 140 precincts counted.

Brown, the state's elections official, has about 40 disputed ballots from one precinct in Jefferson County under study, and one ballot from Licking County.

Tallies were completed in six of the 25 counties requested.
Other recounts showed:
Allen County: Burke gained three votes in 30 precincts.
Ashtabula: Burke 10 in 14.
Lawrence: Bender 28 in 11.
Lucas: Burke 47 in 26.
Mahoning: Bender 3 in 86.
Mercer: Burke 34 in 36.
Richland: Bender 6 in 70.
Ross: Burke 2 in 51.
Scioto: Burke 27 in all 125.
Stark: Burke 124 in 206.
Tuscarawas: Burke 14 in 42.

Blanket Of Snow Covers Midwest

CHICAGO (AP)—A blanket of snow covered wide areas in the Midwest and West today with temperatures dropping below zero in some sections.

Snow measured a foot in western South Dakota and in some northern Nebraska communities. Heavy falls also were reported in parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, North Dakota and Iowa as the tail end of a storm moved south and east from the Rockies.

Athens Countian Killed In Crash

ATHENS (AP)—Thomas Smith, 37, of Gloucester was injured fatally today in a two-car collision on U. S.
33 just north of Nelsonville. Five other persons in his car were injured.

The state highway patrol reported that the driver of the other car involved, William McKinley, 34, of Lancaster, was being held in jail here pending an investigation of the accident.

Conservation Urged

conservation principles is "vitally important."

Elks Here Plan Memorial Rites Next Sunday

Circleville Elks Lodge will hold its annual memorial services at the Elks Home next Sunday, beginning at 2 p. m.

An announcement to the membership said in part:

"It is a sacred duty of every loyal Elk to attend the Memorial Service in memory of our departed brothers. Kindly be with us in person and make this occasion one long to be remembered on the rolls of Old 77."

The Order of Service for the ceremony, open to the public, will include musical numbers by Mrs. Theodore Huston, well known organist, and selections by the Circleville High School Girls' Sextet.

The memorial address will be by the Rev. Carl Zehner of Trinity Lutheran Church.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Danny Neal Lis-sal, who passed his 12th birthday last week in the coma which had engulfed him for eight years, died last night.

Death for the youngster who was injured the day before his fourth birthday near his Hamilton home came just as doctors had been sure it would—from a respiratory infection.

Dr. Wendell A. Butcher, superintendent of the Columbus State School where Danny had lain for years in an eyes-open, but unsee-ing, coma, said he has not yet heard from the boy's mother, Mrs.
Charles Surber of Anderson, Ind.

Last week, at the time of Danny's birthday, she herself was hospitalized for surgery.

Plane Wreckage Reported Found

NORTH CONWAY, N. H. (AP)— Wreckage was sighted early today and a radio message was picked up which was identified as from a Northeast Airlines plane missing since yesterday. It placed the plane in wilderness about five miles north of the Berlin airport, its destination.

The radio message would indicate that there was at least one survivor of the seven persons aboard the plane.

Star Witness In Sheppard Trial Heard

'Other Woman' Claims Defendant Gave Her A Ring In January

CLEVELAND (AP)—Susan Hayes testified today that Dr. Samuel Sheppard told her he loved her, gave her a ring and said he was "thinking of divorce."

These events took place in the latter part of 1953 and last January, the state's "star witness" told the jury which will decide the fate of the murder trial defendant.

The prosecution is said by observers to be using testimony by Miss Hayes to establish motive for Dr. Sam's alleged brutal slaying of his wife.

Testifying in a low, often semi-audible voice, and looking straight ahead, the attractive witness replied "yes" to a question as to whether Sheppard "expressed love for you on other occasions."

She said Sheppard gave her the ring while they were together in her home in January of this year.
She said that the first mention of divorce, she estimated, was in the "early part of 1953."

"HE TOLD ME he loved his wife very much, but not so much as a wife. He was thinking of divorce," Miss Hayes said.

"He said he wasn't sure if his father would approve."

This type of conversation took place several times again in 1953, Miss Hayes continued.

Sheppard, accused of hacking his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31, to death in her bed at their lakefront home last July 4, watched intently. Occasionally he bit his lip, made notes or clasped his hands in front of his chest.

After she went to California last year and before Sheppard came to Los Angeles last March for post graduate work in osteo-pathy, they exchanged about four letters, Miss Hayes said. He wrote to her first, she added.

Her eyes straight ahead and away from the defendant, the pretty witness told of going with him on a date to the home of Dr.
and Mrs. Arthur Miller. Dr. Miller is a Los Angeles osteopath and a friend of Sheppard.

Miss Hayes described an evening which began with dinner. Later friends of the Millers dropped in and she said, "Some of the people played poker."

"Where did you spend that night?" asked Asst. Prosecutor Thomas Parrino.

"AT THE MILLERS' home," Susan replied.

"Where did Dr. Sheppard stay?"
Parrino continued.

"At the Miller home," the witness said.

"Did you share the same bedroom?" Parrino asked.

"Yes," Miss Hayes said.

Health Board Finds City Hall 'Satisfactory'

Conditions in the municipal building are "quite satisfactory," the city health board reported after a tour of the premises Tuesday.

The tour of the building, including the city jail, was made in conjunction with the board's regular meeting, at which the group also approved the appointment of C. O. Leist as city health director, who held the post last year, was asked to resume the duties when Oscar Root was forced by illness to resign.

In addition to his work as health director, Leist is serving as temporary appointee to the job of city safety director.

Mayor Bob Hedges, honorary chairman of the health board, said a few sanitation adjustments are needed at the city building, "but all in all we found things quite satisfactory." He likewise called attention to a vacancy that has existed on the board since the Rev. Robert Weaver left Circleville for another church assignment.

Present members of the health board are: Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Bob Young, Dr. Henry Swope and Dr. Ray Carroll.

2nd County School Forced To Close

A second Pickaway County school has been forced to close because of mechanical difficulties.

Well trouble at Monroe Township School resulted in the closing of the building for several days. County Superintendent of Schools George McDowell said that workers labored all Tuesday night in an effort to make final repairs.

A test will be run on the repaired well Thursday.

Furnace trouble recently forced Perry Township School at Atlanta to close. McDowell said tests are now being made at the school on new equipment.

"Did you share the same bed?" "Yes," replied Miss Hayes.

Miss Hayes, auburn-haired and 24, flushed faintly and hesitated slightly before she gave testimony about sharing a bed with Dr. Sam.

"Did you have any clothes with you that night?" Prosecuting Attorney Thomas Parrino asked.

Miss Hayes said she did not, that Sheppard drove her to the suburban residence where she was staying the next day to get some. Then they were together for seven days, including a trip to San Diego to attend a wedding, she said.

"Was that the first time you had intimate relations?" Parrino asked. Again with a slight hesitation, and keeping her eyes riveted on the attorney, she replied in a low voice, "No."

"When were the other occasions?"

MISS HAYES said that they took place in August 1953, while she was working in a downtown Cleveland laboratory.

"Where?"

"In his car and in an apartment above the Fairview Clinic," she said.

"What floor?"

"Upstairs."

"Are there living quarters there?"

"Yes."

The attorney then led her over the story of the trip from Los Angeles to San Diego. During this trip, Miss Hayes said she lost her wrist watch and Sheppard gave her another one.

Defense attorneys objected when Parrino asked: "Did he tell you he loved you?" The objection was overruled and Miss Hayes replied firmly, "Yes."

"Did he express love for you on other occasions?"

"Yes."

Testimony about Sheppard's references to his feelings for his wife and that he was thinking of divorce then was given.

In November 1953, Miss Hayes said, another such conversation took place.

"He said he mentioned to his wife something about divorce," the witness testified. She was not asked to relate any details, but the attorney brought out that there were "other occasions when divorce was mentioned."

November Rain 1.78 Inch Short

After finishing October with a surplus of more than two inches over the normal for the month, Circleville's rainfall ran into another setback in November.

Precipitation for the district last month was 1.78 inch short of the normal figures estimated by the Columbus weather bureau. Normal for November in this area has been figured at 2.79 inches, while the district actually had only an accumulation of 1.01 inch.

Aside from minor recoveries which could not make much headway against the drought trend, rainfall for the district lost ground steadily throughout last month. By Nov. 14, actual rainfall here was already more than one inch below the November normal.

The Scioto River at Circleville remained unchanged at 2.13 feet Wednesday.

For purposes of compiling a more accurate "score" on progress of the drought through December, The Herald's daily report will be suspended until next week when the new monthly trend will become apparent.

Sokolsky's These Days

The answer, of course, is that before they became Marxists, they had revolted against God; that race and nationality have lost all meaning for them; whereas the Marxist "scientific" approach to the question, "What is man?" satisfies their need for a unified system.

But above all else, they seek a society without war, having been affected in their own lives by the consequences of two wars in one generation. They are prepared to give up religion, race and nationality for peace.

As over-simplified as this explanation must be, it is nevertheless true. It is the problem of our day. Up to now, the West has not met this problem philosophically and therefore has not met it at all. Giving money to governments does not lessen Marxist influence, because money is not at issue; nor is a high standard of living. What is at issue is the Communist claim to a world without war because it is without religion, race or nationality.

If co-existence means the acceptance of Russia under any conditions, is it necessary to permit the indoctrination of our people by Marxism?

Some Danger Seen In Commie-Hunt

BOSTON (AP) — Yale University Theologian Roland H. Bainton got a standing ovation at a National Council of Churches banquet here after a speech in which he declared American freedoms are more keenly menaced by anti-Communist drives than by the Communists themselves.

He said "loyalty oaths do not catch Communists because they will readily lie," but do damage those who object to such oaths on principle. He said similar measures do more to create distrust and suspicion and muzzle free expression than actually to catch Communists.

But he said the business of preserving freedom poses a tough dilemma. He declared:

"If we take no measures by way of opposition we may be overcome by means of our own freedom. If we take excessive measures of oppression we may destroy that free-

Speedboat King, Model Due To Air Tiff In Court

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Gar Wood, white-haired dean of American speedboat racing, and a 23-year-old former model will air their squabbles in a justice of the peace court here Tuesday.

Wood, 73-year-old millionaire boat builder, said Lucille Stiglich, a statuesque brunette, went to his home on Fisher Island and threatened to kill him. He charged she made a special trip to the island to threaten him and brought her mother with her.

Wood had Miss Stiglich placed in a $500 peace bond and she in turn charged him with assault. She said he kicked her and beat her Nov. 13.

Miss Stiglich said over the phone that she was too ill to talk about the matter. Her attorney said she told him Wood was supposed to meet her but when she arrived she found him with another girl.

The attorney said Miss Stiglich, a divorcee, claims Wood has promised to marry her.

Physician's Wife Slated For Trial

MARYSVILLE (AP)—A Marysville physician's wife accused of sending unsigned pre-election circulars to Union County voters will go on trial here Dec. 9.

Mrs. Charles E. Bolinger is accused of sending unsigned letters attacking the .6 mill tax levy for Union County Memorial Hospital approved by a narrow margin Nov. 2.

Sheriff Walter Galloway said the circulars were mailed from Columbus, Hington, Kenton, Dunkirk, Findlay and Toledo so as to arrive on Nov. 1 or Nov. 2. He claimed there are at least 25 known violations of the election law which forbid sending unsigned election literature through the mail.

Hal Boyle Says: He's Training Perfect Wife

NEW YORK (AP) — When you have a new baby in the house, the veteran parents among your friends are always warning: "Yes, they're wonderful when they're helpless and completely dependent on you. But wait until they learn to walk. Then you'll never know a moment's peace. They just become little terrors."

Well, Tracy Ann, who came to our house to live when she was five weeks old, has now passed her 17th month birthday. She walks and climbs like crazy, trying each hour to explore and know all the wonders and knowledge in the whole wide world. And while life with her is admittedly less peaceful, it grows more wonderful each passing golden day.

Nothing makes a grownup appreciate the commonplace miracles of our daily lives—miracles to which time has dulled us—than to watch a child discover them one by one.

Take a simple thing like shadows, for example. The morning Tracy discovered she could wave her hands in the bright sunlight and make moving shadows on the wall she went wild with excitement. When the sun went behind a cloud and the shadows ceased, she complained bitterly. What had gone wrong in the world?

She can imitate a lamb, a dog, a cow, and an Indian princess—this last she does by patting her lips and letting out war whoops. But her actual vocabulary consists of four words—mama, dada, pa-pa, and no.

Although Frances and I have avoided saying "no" to her as much as possible, she picked up her little friends in the playground for small fry in our apartment development, a playground which the young mothers generally refer to as "The Snake Pit."

"No! No! No! No!" she says, striding about like a Hollywood producer. And like a Hollywood producer she often says "no" when she really means "yes."

It is almost frightening to see the speed with which a child's personality develops, forming swiftly into a pattern that will probably last a lifetime. Already

we know that Tracy is intelligent but stubborn, that physical punishment has no effect upon her but that she is kind, has a strong sense of duty and a deep need for loving approval.

She dislikes sudden noises, but will go up and throw her small arms fearlessly around the neck of the biggest, loudest barking dog. She loves colorful flowers but has learned to pet them, not destroy them. She is passionately fond of all animals and birds, and breaks into a crooning love chant when she sees them.

The only thing she is afraid of is the vacuum cleaner. When

The 2 per cent decrease for the month was the smallest since January and the 3,580-death total was the largest for any month in the year, the council added.

For the first 10 months this year, the total of 29,350 deaths was 6 per cent fewer than for the like period in 1953.

For the first nine months of the year, travel mileage was 3 per cent higher for the country as a whole. This gave a rate of 6.2 deaths per 100 million miles, or the lowest on record for the period, the council said.

Phone Book Ad Brings Lawsuit

SANDUSKY (AP) — A Bellevue firm has sued Ohio Bell Telephone Co. for $20,000 on grounds its advertisement in the phone book listed the phone number of a competitor.

Because of this, said the firm in a common pleas petition filed yesterday, it lost most of its business drilling wells and building sewage disposal systems.

The plaintiffs were Ida C., Walter P. and Harold W. Robertson, whose company is called Robertson's of Bellevue. They said their advertisement, with the competitor's phone number, appeared in both the 1953-54 directory and the 1954-55 directory.

Canada's Tourist Business Slips

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's tourist business has slipped a little this year compared with 1953.

Officials blame a variety of factors. Weather is one. Another is that the Canadian dollar holds at a premium of 3 to 5 cents over the U.S. dollar, and U.S. tourists don't take kindly to the idea.

Officials concede that the lure of Florida—and of Europe on a pay-later basis—is a challenge to Canadian tourism. Noting that major U.S. airlines offer vacations in Europe for $35 down, a Canadian travel official commented: "It's pretty hard to compete against that sort of thing."

When they returned to jail, the deputy discovered the key was missing. He had dropped it while bending over to search the field. The cuffs had to be cut off.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has retained such immense personal popularity through the first two years of his term he probably will hold this public esteem to the end.

For a man two years in the White House, he has been almost amazingly free of personal attacks—abuse, for one thing, politicians who might like to take a crack at him may have felt it too risky to attack a national hero.

But Eisenhower himself, although a novice in politics, has followed the one course best calculated to bring him a minimum of abuse: by making no personal attacks.

Perhaps the best example of this is his handling of Sen. McCarthy—who has treated Sen. Knowland of California very carefully too—who has repeatedly stepped on the toes of the administration.

Yet, before his term is up Eisenhower may think it necessary to take a far tougher position on matters affecting his administration. More than his own personal popularity is at stake these next two years.

In 1956 the voters will decide not only whether the Republicans should stay in office but perhaps even the future of the Republican party itself.

Yet, before his term is up Eisenhower cannot claim equal popularity with Eisenhower. There are two examples of that: He ran far in front of the party in 1952; and the Republicans lost control of Congress to the Democrats in last month's elections while Eisenhower's popularity rating was still regarded as high.

The Republicans will not present an enticing spectacle to the voters between now and 1956 they show themselves split on domestic and foreign affairs, with some of them in steady opposition to Eisenhower or at least to his administration.

That Eisenhower can expect trouble from McCarthy seems a foregone conclusion. Even if he is censured this week, the Wisconsin Republican says, he will continue his search for Communists. His most likely searching ground is the administration, as it was the past two years.

McCarthy has a following inside and outside Congress and in the Republican party. It may not be a majority following but it could create bad spirits which might ruin the party's chances in 1956.

Knowland, the Republicans' Senate leader and therefore a source from which Eisenhower might ordinarily expect a minimum of difficulty, has often differed with Eisenhower on foreign policy. He shows no signs of changing.

Knowland too will have some support among Republicans, often perhaps from McCarthy's followers.

In the end, if the Republicans spend their time and energy in splits and wrangles, Eisenhower may have to depend on the Democrats—who are slated to be in a majority when the new Congress opens in 1955—at least to push through his foreign policy plans.

Last year McCarthy called on Eisenhower to cut off aid to allies who traded with the Communists. Today in an interview he came back to the same theme again.

He suggested the Chinese Communists would be forced to give up the 13 Americans imprisoned as spies if the Allies would stop trading with them. This country, he said, should force the Allies to stop trading by shutting off American aid to them if they didn't.

Knowland wants Eisenhower to blockade the China coast to force release of the prisoners. McCarthy lined up with Knowland by saying he'd back the blockade idea if his own idea of stop-trade-stop-aid didn't work.

Even though Secretary of State Dulles publicly repudiated Knowland's blockade proposal as a warlike act, and Eisenhower backed up Dulles yesterday, Knowland came right back by insisting on the blockade. He has taken a stand contrary to the administration's gain and again.

'Puny Little Thing' Lives To Be 100

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tiny Jennie Rupert, who says she was born a "puny little thing nobody ever paid much mind to," got a letter Monday from the President of the United States. The occasion was her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Rupert started out in life as a bundle of only three pounds, "and that included my flannel dress." But she grew up to be a 78-pound bride of a Yankee who fought in the Civil War. Right now, she barely nudges 70 pounds.

President Eisenhower's letter, she said, "really pepped me up."

The letter said: "Please accept my sincere congratulations upon your birthday. May good health be yours through many more years."

Youth Abandons Chemistry Study

CINCINNATI (AP)—The world of science and chemistry is just going to have to get along without 18-year-old James Gibson.

The youth, his left hand heavily bandaged and his face marred with cuts, declared today "it's all over" as he referred to his experiments with chemistry and explosives.

A homemade bomb which he had made exploded in young Gibson's hand last night and surgery was necessary on the hand. Last March the same youth had to be given hospital treatment for injuries to his face and eyes suffered in an explosion while he and three other boys were experimenting with a chemistry set.

Would-Be Rescuer Crushed In Mishap

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Caught in a collapsing slag pile, the general manager of the Lorain Slag Co. was crushed to death yesterday while trying to rescue a trapped employee.

William F. Miller, of suburban Bay Village, had tried to save Henry Kraemer, 23. Kraemer was in serious condition in St. Joseph's Hospital with back injuries and possible fractured ribs.

The slag had become caked over a 15-foot pit opening into a conveyor system that led to a freighter on which it was being loaded. Kraemer stepped onto the pile and it collapsed. Miller rushed to his rescue but dropped from sight.

Kraemer, whose head was visible, was pulled out first by workmen who later extricated Miller.

Probation Lifted For Polygamists

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP)—A year-long probation ended yesterday for nine residents of once polygamous Short Creek, Ariz.

Superior Court Judge Robert S. Tullar, who passed the original sentence against the men in 1953, turned down a petition to revoke the probation and send them to jail.

The state claimed the men had resumed practice of plural marriages.

Each of the men testified he had not practiced polygamy during the past year and did not intend to practice it again.

The tiny Short Creek community was brought to national attention July 23, 1953, when officers raided it and arrested virtually the entire population.

WHY ALL THE JOKES?

NOW THAT mother-in-law jokes have become a dime a dozen a research organization has been looking into the subject, in an effort to ascertain what is responsible for in-law trouble.

In some circles mothers-in-law seem to stand indicted for a large percentage of broken marriages resulting from outside interference. Of the 1,337 men and women quizzed in the survey 65 per cent reported unhappy experiences which they attributed to mother-in-law interference and possessiveness.

It was learned, furthermore, that mothers act differently about marriages of sons and daughters. When a daughter marries mother seems to abandon her to her fate. In fact, her sympathies in many cases are with the husband, strange as this may seem. But let a son take a wife and mother immediately insists on dominating the new household, and trouble often follows.

It must be said in her behalf that the mother-in-law is up against a real problem. If she leaves her married children alone, she is accused of being neglectful. If she tries to be nice, she is accused of being two-faced. And if she tries to be helpful in any way, her efforts may be misconstrued as meddlingness.

She does come in handy, however, as a baby sitter. Apparently the survey did not find the answer to the problem, and mother-in-law jokes will continue to make their appearance as heretofore.

SENSELESS SADISM

RED CHINA'S conviction of 13 Americans, mostly fliers, on so-called espionage charges is part of communism's heartless game of holding back hostages, which it can play on the checkerboard of international relations when the spirit moves it.

The inhumanity of such life-demeaning behavior never ceases to shock freedom-loving peoples. But hardly does an American recover from one incident when another is brashly trumpeted on the world stage.

The U. S. State Department is registering the strongest possible protest in indirect diplomatic channels, since this country could not under any circumstances recognize the Peiping government. The irony in the situation is that the men have already been in communist custody for two years or longer, and now face seemingly endless years of bondage. The Chinese game, it would appear, is to twist Uncle Sam's arm so that he will accord their rotten regime a greater degree of diplomatic intercourse.

If that's really their motives, they show an incredible lack of understanding of American temperament and character. But the mass incarceration may well be inspired by the senseless sadism of the unruly little runt throwing rocks at his neighbor's house.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

If Russia presented no other problem than a difference of social, political and economic techniques, there would be no impediment to what they call co-existence. The United States existed amicably with autocratic Czarist Russia, with Confucian China of the Manchus, with the peculiarities of the Ottoman Turks, with all sorts of varieties of peoples. "Co-existence" is a normal state of mankind.

Russia, however, presents the broader problem of the Marxist Church which seeks to dominate the thinking of the entire human race in conformity with Marxism-Leninism, with what they regard as the science of history. In the economic field, they accept Socialism which is not rejected in whole or in part by any nation in the Western world; but economics is a small part of the Marxist doctrine which proclaims itself a complete philosophy of life, touching man in all his activities.

The four phases of Marxism which have proved, during the past 37 years, to be most attractive to younger people and have won adherents in every country are:

1. The "scientific" approach to the position of man in the Cosmos, namely, that man is a product of his environment, of the constant struggle for existence of everything that is upon this earth; that the habits of man are determined by the tools he uses to earn his keep, thus eliminating all absolutes in morals and ethics;

2. That religion per se is an opiate of the people, a device invented by the ruling classes for those who are to be subjected to their will, that mysticism is an evil because it deceives and that therefore a mystical God is a myth because its presence cannot be substantiated by the "scientific methods"; that varieties of religion are not permissible in a Communist society because in all such differences lie the seeds of war;

3. That race is "scientifically" unfounded; that varieties of color or hair structure, or skull measurements do not establish racial distinctions that are of significance in a Marxist world; that racism has been employed by ruling powers to establish colonialism, that is, to make it possible for the Western Europeans to prevail over Asiatic, African, and American peoples;

4. That nationality is an evil because it makes for war; that whereas peoples do have different languages and customs, ultimately the whole of the human race will be one; that boundary lines will be eliminated and varieties of governmental processes will be no more. When this goal is reached, government itself will be unnecessary and will wither away.

Arnold Toynbee makes this point: "Communism is politically formidable to us Westerners today because it is politically attractive to anyone who is being treated as a 'native.' Any human being will revolt against being treated as a 'native.' For the millions who are still being treated as 'natives' today, communism is an obvious remedy, because they have come to know that, if they go Communist, they will not be treated as 'natives' any longer."

That explains only one phase of the problem. It does not explain why so many among the intellectuals in the most advanced countries, France, Italy, Germany, the United States, are prepared to ally themselves with the Communists and to make sacrifices for this movement, sacrifices sometimes of their lives.

The Inheritors

By JANE ABBOTT

SYNOPSIS

At 86, Josh Trevitt makes his will, leaving an equal share of his rambling farm in New York state to each of his three children. Mrs. Hester Wilmer, Miss Jennie Todd and his nephew, Tom Todd. But to acquire final title, each must remain three months on the land, those leaving sooner relinquishing their share or shares to the final "resident." Josh also assigns an acre with tiny cottage, to Gary Norbeck, a stranger who'd come to live there. Shortly after making his will, Josh falls from a rafter of his barn, and is killed. At a girl's school in Cleveland, Ohio, where she is house-mother, niece Jenny receives news of her inheritance, and relishes the prospect of living on a farm. But in Buffalo, New York, Jennie's sister, Hester, is outraged at the thought of having to give up social plans for her debutante daughter, Enid, so as to benefit by her uncle's will. But Hester means to benefit and to get Norbeck's share of the land, too. And since the whereabouts of nephew Tom Todd, a wanderer, is unknown, his teen-age daughter, Cindy, also in a distant city, plans to claim her father's share of the estate. She is hopeful at last of meeting with the kin she'd never known.

CHAPTER SIX

DAN DOOLEY, who had gone no further in school, than the seventh grade, and Tommy Todd, a graduate from Penn State, had met in a pool room in Binghamton, New York. Strangely, so unlike, they had become good friends. Dan had been won by Tommy's high spirits and quick thinking; Tommy, by recognizing in Dan a man of staunch, blind loyalty. They had remained good friends, even though sometimes months passed without their meeting and even though Tommy had taken to ways of making a living very different from Dan's—though Dan, more than once, thinking back, had had to admit that except for Brigit that might not have been so.

Brigit and he had no children so they had taken little Cindy gladly, loved her as though she were their own. They had kept from her the truth of Tommy's activities. Once, when Cindy questioned him, Dan had told her that her father was a business expert. "He goes all over the country showing people how to run things."

Dan made a decision. He said to Bengy: "She's quitting. Quitting this night."

Bengy stared at him. "How come?" Bengy's taking home a wad of tips."

She was—she dumped them into Brigit's lap each night, proudly, gleefully.

Dan drew up his heavy shoulders, put one hand over an inner pocket where he had carried the lawyer's letter, along with the telegram, for over a week, because he did not know how to get it to Tommy.

Bengy smiled. "Heard Tommy was in a jam over in St. Louis. How does it look for him?"

"He's got out of worse. How soon can the kid get off?"

"Five minutes."

After what seemed a long time Cindy came out, dressed now in her own plain skirt and a blue sweater, a beret on her head. She was carrying a big bunch of yellow roses.

"Hi, Dan! Good-night, Bengy."

Bennett Cerf's

Try, Stop Me

Bertrand Russell, famous English philosopher, took unto himself a beautiful child bride in the autumn of his life. As was her custom, she listened in silence one night while her husband, Dr. Einstein, and several other savants batted around some obscure philosophical concepts. When she repaired to the kitchen, however, to prepare some refreshments, she reported wonderfully to the maid, "Heavens to Betsy, the boys are being smart tonight!"

Why the proofreader on a small Illinois paper was given a very rapid leave-ho: "The popular Skook River bride is to be resurfaced with brick, laid herringbone style on a bed of sand with a concrete mixture in the joints."

Wonder what ever happened to that Colonel Stoopnagle invention of a lint suit that picked up blue serge?

By Ray Tucker

ADVANCES — On returning from his recent visit to Peiping, Nehru admitted publicly that he was impressed by that country's economic advances, with Russian help. He said that the American and Communist economic systems were on trial, with Russia and China as a laboratory.

He indicated that India's decision to side with the democracies or the dictatorships might depend on the outcome of this economic conflict. His remarks were widely quoted in Moscow and in Washington.

Moscow is winning the race at the moment. She is giving China far more than the United States is advancing to any Asiatic country, building factories, railroads, docks, public utilities.

Russia's own capital investment is increasing at the rate of six per cent a year, twice as much as in the U. S., and four or five times as fast as in Britain, France, Japan, India, etc.

SACRIFICES—Nehru and Yo-

"Good-night, kid. Good-by."

"Why did Bengy say that?" asked Cindy as she walked toward the truck with Dan.

"I'll tell you why later. Where'd you get those flowers?"

"Aren't they lovely? I found them in the locker room where we leave our clothes. Mr. Joseph Micelli sent them to me."

The lights were on in the third floor walk-up apartment where they lived, and Brigit was waiting for them in the kitchen. Coffee was on the stove, cups were on the table and a plate of sandwiches. Cindy cried out blithely. "Here we are," and gave Brigit a hug and kiss. Then she pushed the roses into Brigit's hand. "That isn't all, Brigit! Six dollars and 75 cents tonight. Just a moment while I get it out!"

Cindy took the money from her handbag and put it into Brigit's hand. "There—that's towards a new dress, Mama Brigit. Maybe tomorrow night I'll make more."

"You're quitting, then, colleen," Dan said. "Quitting tonight?"

"It, it's that Mr. Micelli—that's silly. He's never spoken a word to me that wasn't all right! A lot of others do—only I pretend I don't hear them. Oh, Dan..."

"Sit down, Cindy, I've news for you."

Dan drew the thick envelope from his pocket, spread the sheets it held out on the table. "You've come into an inheritance, Cindy, this says. Leastways your father has, and what's his is yours, near as I know law. It's a place somewhere in New York state—belonged to your father's uncle, Jehosaphat Trevitt."

"Does my father know?" cried Cindy.

"Not yet. And he's too busy just now to bother with it. So I thought you and I could take care of it. You got to go to this place, up country, first, Cindy. Live there three months this summer. Says so on this paper. Tommy can't go just now, so you got to go."

"You won't be alone up there. It says here the house is divided up. Mrs. Hester Wilmer gets a third, Miss Jennie Todd a third, and you and Tommy the same. They got to go there and live same as you, or else lose it."

"But who are they, Dan?" Cindy and Brigit asked in one voice.

"Your aunts, Cindy. Your father's sisters, I figure from this." Dan folded the papers. "Before tomorrow," he said, "Figure I'd start with Cindy and her things tomorrow, soon as I can get the truck greased, and drive up there to this place."

"Oh, Daddy Dan, you'll go with me?" cried Cindy gladly.

"I can spare the time, and I want to see you all safe there. Have a talk with this lawyer fellow, too."

Cindy fell on the floor Brigit had had ready. Brigit and Dan ate nothing.

Finished, Cindy carried her cup to the sink. "I'll go and put out my things." She ran out of the room.

Brigit and Dan sat in a heavy silence for a moment. Then Brigit whispered: "It's—Tommy?"

"Yeah."

"He's—in?"

"For questioning. It was in the newspapers."

Tommy was not using his own name.

Wick Middleton left his car in the drive at the Trevett place and went on foot over a track road that crossed the fields to the south acre. A way familiar to him for it led to the creek and woods, and he had gone along it often in the past, with fishing rod or gun. But he did not think of those times now. He thought of Gary Norbeck. He had come up here twice before and had found the cabin empty and locked. Wick had not seen him in the village since that day, almost two weeks past now. He did not know whether Norbeck had received the copy of the will he had mailed to him.

Today, when he reached the cabin he found the door wide open. Gary Norbeck appeared in it.

"Good afternoon. I'm glad to find you here, Norbeck. I've tried twice before to get in touch with you."

Gary Norbeck said: "I only returned yesterday. Come in." He stood aside for Wick to pass by him into the cabin.

Wick was surprised at its interior. He had expected to see it rough, makeshift, and instead it had a finished, livable look. At one end, where there was a window to the north, stood an easel and a table covered with tubes and brushes. In the other end was a small stove with cupboards along the wall back of it. Other cupboards had been built in between the uprights, a desk, with shelves over it, another table and two chairs. Wick had another thought—all this took money.

"Will you sit down?" Gary Norbeck indicated one of the two chairs. But when Wick sat down, he remained standing.

"You got the copy of the old man's will?"

"Yes."

"You know, then, that Jehosaphat will this south acre to you outright?"

"Yes."

"And you know of the rather peculiar provisions he put in where his direct heirs are concerned?"

"Yes."

"Possibly Jehosaphat talked all that over with you?"

"No. He never talked of it to me."

"In my office, the day Josh came to me to write his will, he spoke of savings that amounted to $6,000 or so. I find he had only about $4,000 in the bank. That's puzzled me a little. You'd know, perhaps, if he were one to hide money away in tin cans or such? I looked over his wing in the back of the house but I didn't find any money."

Gary said stiffly: "We never talked about money. I know nothing about how much he had—or where he might have kept it. I never intruded on his personal affairs."

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — Prime Minister Nehru of India is largely responsible for the White House decision to extend far greater economic aid to Asian, Middle East and South American countries, assuming that Congress approves the new project. Another indirect sponsor of the movement is Premier Yoshida of Japan, who visited Washington recently.

As a result of their warnings, given to Secretary John Foster Dulles by Yoshida and to our diplomatic representatives at New Delhi by Nehru, the Eisenhower Administration will shift the emphasis on overseas assistance from the military to the bread-and-butter realm.

Communism can be kept from converting 600 million Asians, in the two statesmen's judgment, only if the West can demonstrate that it has a better and more satisfying prescription for economic security and improvement—for filling empty stomachs—than Russia can offer.

COMPETITION—A State Department spokesman, talking off

the record about the new program recently unveiled by President Eisenhower and by Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey at Rio de Janeiro, says that it will amount to "competitive" rather than "peaceful co-existence" with Moscow.

In other words, when the anti-Communist coalition's need for soldiers and weapons is filled with implementation of the Western European Union early next year, as expected, the United States will supply butter. It will try to prove that our system of society and government have both a material and spiritual superiority over the Soviet's regime.

Nehru and Yoshida are opposed to Communist totalitarianism, brutality and disregard of the individual's civil rights. But Russia's and China's economic progress under iron rule has had a definite impact on them, and on their backward peoples. Their countries' proximity to Russia makes them virtual onlookers and spectators of the Soviet's "bootstrap experiment."

shida recognize that the Russo-Chinese philosophy gives the Reds a distinct advantage. But Nehru's comparison of working and living conditions in the Communist lands operated definitely in our favor. He wondered whether the material gains compensated for the personal, political and spiritual sacrifices.

However, the proof of the Communist and Western pudding is in the economic eating. An excellent cook himself, Ike means to prove that we have the better recipes.

TAMMANY — 1954 has been a bizarre political year. But the strangest performance, perhaps, is the selection of a university professor as a district leader of Tammany Hall.

To the politicians, this "new look" in New York City means that Tammany Leader Carmine G. de Sapio intends to break into national politics, with Gov. Averell Harriman as his candidate against Adlai E. Stevenson for the presidential nomination in 1956.

Degree Work Is Scheduled By Traveling Grange Teams

Scioto Valley Will Host First Session

During a business meeting of Scioto Valley Grange, a letter from County Deputy John Dowler was read, announcing a series of Traveling Grange Degree Work.

Degree work will be held on the first meeting night of each of the eight subordinate Granges. All Granges having candidates in waiting are expected to bring those persons to these meetings to receive the necessary degree work.

The first Grange to be host under this new set-up will be Scioto Valley Grange on Dec. 14, when the first degree will be put on by Washington Grange, and the second degree by Scioto Valley Grange. All other Grange members, as well as those receiving the degree work, are cordially invited to attend.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, a Thanksgiving program was presented by the Lecturer, Edgar Melick. The program opened with the group singing the Thanksgiving hymn, "Come Ye Thankful People, Come." This was followed by a waist-measuring skit, conducted by Robert Dennis. Mrs. Chester Fausnaugh led a Thanksgiving quiz.

An original pantomime, written and directed by the lecturer, was presented. Leroy Herron served as narrator and Mrs. Herron, Susan Herron, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fausnaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fausnaugh, Miss Fern Dennis and Robert Dennis portrayed the various characters in the three scenes presented.

The message of the pantomime was further high-lighted by a Thanksgiving address given by the Rev. Paul Lindsay, of the South Bloomfield charge. The Grange Chaplain, Mrs. Walter Berger, closed the meeting with a Thanksgiving prayer.

The Pomona Grange Master, Hoyt Timmons, and Mrs. Timmons were among those present. Refreshments for the evening were served by Mrs. Herman Berger and her committee.

Army Helps Care For Needy Cases

Emergency Relief Organization Has Achieved Quiet Success

Most of the general public in Pickaway County and elsewhere has been unaware of the setup, but the U. S. Army has a relatively new organization to take care of its own special needy cases.

Details of the operation, as explained by the Army itself, may be of particular importance to soldiers and their dependents at this season of the year. It was emphasized that the organization works along with, but does not take the place of, other agencies which also stand ready to help the men and women in service. The Army tells the story this way:

By giving emergency financial aid, an organization known as Army Emergency Relief assists thousands of soldiers and their families during periods of distress.

FINANCIAL aid given by AER is made possible primarily by voluntary contributions from U. S. Army officers and soldiers throughout the world. Once each year, Army members are asked to make a small contribution to help continue this instrument of welfare and morale.

Indicative of its success is the fact that since its organization in 1942, AER has disbursed more than $26 million in loans and grants to more than 270,000 persons.

Last year AER aid totaled $2 million to some 20,000 persons.

This year, current expenditure rates indicate the total will reach $3 million to 30,000 members of the Army and their families.

Ways in which AER has been able to ease the weight of tragedy or to lighten the burden of unusual family responsibilities are illustrated in a few typical cases from the files of AER.

Upon a sergeant had fallen the burden of paying for a series of operations when his mother became seriously ill. His request for financial aid was met by a loan of $600 and an outright grant of $600.

IN THE case of another soldier a loan of $500 was authorized to defray funeral expenses of his mother, a dependent, and also to pay hospital and doctor's bills of his wife at birth of their fourth child. He was unable to meet these emergencies without help and AER came to his rescue.

A grant of $685 was made to a sergeant, who was serving in Germany to assist his wife and five children when their home in the United States and nearly all their possessions were destroyed by fire.

Another soldier's problem was solved by a $500 loan to help pay for emergency transportation of his wife back to the United States after she had been notified that her father had suffered a heart attack and was expected to live a few days.

His wife was an only child and her mother was an invalid. Round-trip expense to their home in California was $800, but the sergeant was able to furnish only $300. One hour after the AER officer had been informed of the situation, the sergeant was given a $500 loan and his wife was on her way to the United States.

Assistance in the amount of $250 was given to a sergeant in order to permit a delicate operation on an infant child who was born with a serious deformity. The operation was a success; the child is recuperating and now has a chance to live a normal life.

A lieutenant was loaned $250 to employ help to care for his two children while his wife recovers from an attack of polio.

MONEY LOANED by AER is repaid at the financial convenience of the borrower. There are no interest charges. In the case of outright grants, there are case histories on file where soldiers, financially on their feet again, insisted on assuming the debt, although they were under no obligation to do so.

Since its inception in 1942, AER has expanded its facilities to keep in touch with Army forces throughout the world. This worldwide deployment and consequent dislocation of service families has brought into being 189 AER operating sections.

One hundred and thirteen sections are located on Army posts in the United States, the remaining 76 sections overseas.

Today AER stands ready to meet the emergency needs of

Experience shows that most causes for financial assistance arise because of:

1. Non-receipt of pay, allotment or allowances.
2. Loss of pay.
3. Acute illness when government facilities for treatment or hospitalization are not available.

4. Funeral expenses of dependents.

5. Travel expenses due to emergencies.
6. Payment of initial rent, or payment to prevent eviction.
7. Privations of dependents due to any cause.

First Section of All-Concrete Ohio Turnpike Opens... On Schedule!

The 21.4-mile Eastgate section of the Ohio Turnpike is now officially open... on schedule.

The entire turnpike will stay free from ruts, bumps and chuckholes and insure motorists the ultimate in comfort, safety and convenience.

Toward this end, the Ohio Turnpike Commission chose concrete for the 241-mile route from the Pennsylvania border to the Indiana line.

Concrete is the safest pavement for these two reasons: 1. Its gritty, highly skid-resistant surface permits quicker stops in emergencies, even though the pavement is wet. 2. Its light color reflects up to four times more light than dark-colored pavement, providing better visibility at night, when most accidents occur. Remember, if you can't see when driving, you just can't be safe.

Concrete on the turnpike also will save users millions of dollars. That's because concrete is the most economical pavement.

After analyzing competitive designs for the turnpike pavement, engineers found it would cost $2,803,000 less to build it with concrete.

Coupled with this moderate first cost, concrete has much lower maintenance cost and at least twice the service life of competitive pavement. The result is low-annual-cost, the only true measure of highway cost.

Plan to travel this all-concrete Eastgate section of the Ohio Turnpike soon. Treat yourself to the pleasant experience of driving on a safe, smooth-riding pavement typical of the type needed on hundreds of miles of your Ohio road system.

Chance Seen December To Set Record

Retail Tradesmen Eye Yule Trade For Hike In Cash Register Sound

NEW YORK (AP)—A home-stretch spurt can make December the best month of this year in industry and trade.

Merchants have high hopes that Christmas retail trade will top last year's figures. And industrial output, in spite of a slowdown for the holiday, may hit its best pace of the year.

Although it started out lamely, 1954 can still make a good showing when it crosses the 12-month wire.

First reports from the stores tell of good Christmas traffic and the apparently generous mood of the public. The magazine sales management predicts December retail sales will total $16,900,000,000. This would be three per cent above the year ago dollar volume.

Merchants this year are wooing customers ardently with advertising and price promotions. Finding prices either stable or a trifle lower, customers are believed to be in the mood this year to buy.

Last year many were waiting in expectation of big price breaks, which never came. Forecasts of an industrial activity spurt this month are based largely on the early start the auto makers got with their new models. The industry plans to turn out more cars this December than in any other month this year.

A further rise in steel production and in a number of other industries is also looked for. As a result, the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York notes, "for the first time since early 1953 general business appears to be rising at a more-than-seasonal rate." It sees "a strong possibility of a further gain in December."

Purchasing agents report that in many industries new orders are now coming in faster than production is rising.

The steel operating rate has risen above 80 per cent of capacity, the American Iron Steel Institute reports, and output is higher than at any time since early December 1953. Steel companies, now booking orders for January, say orders are piling up faster than earlier expected.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines forecasts an increase this month in the amount of crude oil that will be consumed here or exported. The bureau thinks the total will average out at 6 1/2 million barrels a day.

The Federal Reserve Board looks for the December spurt in business activity to lift the year's total dollar volume of goods and services to 356 billion dollars. This would be only 2 1/4 per cent under 1953's gross national product, a record 365 billion.

The factory hiring rate has been rising this fall contrary to the usual seasonal pattern, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports. The expanding business activity is expected to keep employment high in December and make work weeks a little longer, and pay checks fatter.

The jobless total may rise in January and February—it almost always does on a seasonal pattern. But from now till Christmas the total of spendable incomes should rise slightly. And more money around usually means increased retail trade.

It also usually leads lenders to be easier in setting installment terms and extending credit. The money managers in Washington also apparently intend to keep money easy for awhile as the business recovery takes root.

CHS Drops Basketball Opener To Athens By Only One Point

Circleville's invasion of Athens Tuesday night for the season's basketball opener came within one point of being a winning effort for the local lads.

Athens finally came out on the winning end of a 55 to 54 score. CHS led for two of the three periods prior to the final gun; they were ahead 47 to 38 at the three-quarter mark.

Jack Curry and Eddie Tomlinson shared scoring honors with 16 points along with Ronnie Williams of Athens. Curry showed that he is a good rebound man.

In the reserve game, the Tigers were also out to 40 to 37. Bill Johnson, the tall and slender center for CHS, dropped in 14 points to lead both teams in scoring.

THE CHS VARSITY showed a marked improvement in foul shooting. In the scrimmage with Junction City last Friday night, the Tigers only made good on three foul shots. But in the Athens game they made good 20 times.

The entire CHS team shows signs of being a good team despite a very rugged schedule. With no seniors and only one returning letterman, the Tigers face a tough task.

Box scores follow:

Top U.S. Netters To Play In Finals

MELBOURNE (AP)—America's top Davis Cuppers, Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert, powered their way into the doubles final of the Victoria tennis championships today. They fought an uphill struggle to defeat Australia's Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall in five fierce sets 10-12, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Seixas and Trabert now will meet Rex Hartwig and Vervyn Rose, Australia's Wimbledon champions, in the doubles final. Hartwig and Rose earlier had whipped Ham Richardson, another U. S. Davis Cupper paired with Aussie Neale Fraser.

New Yorkers Winding Up Ring Hearings

NEW YORK (AP)—The State Athletic Commission expects to wind up its current boxing hearings in a final session Friday morning but that may not be the last word in the investigation of charges and countercharges made by two rival manager groups.

Commission Chairman Robert Christenberry said much of the information gathered at the five sessions will be turned over to the district attorney's office along with any other information picked up by the commission's investigators.

"We're going to eliminate undesirable activities tending to bring the sport into disrepute," said Christenberry at the end of the fourth session yesterday.

He then announced that a new rule aimed to control the "bookings" of fights by managers' representatives would be put into effect immediately. From now on any manager who negotiates for another manager's fighter and the promoter with whom he deals will have to disclose all details, including financial facts, on a commission form.

This regulation was added after Manager Al Braverman, president of the Metropolitan Boxing Alliance, had his indefinite suspension lifted. Braverman had admitted "bookings" matches for many out-of-town managers.

The commission also reinstated Manager Gus D'Amato, collector of the $100 television "donations" for the New York Boxing Managers Guild. Christenberry said the commission had found no evidence that payments were made under duress.

Standardbred Sale Opens In Delaware

DELAWARE (AP)—Opening day of the three-day fall speed sale here yesterday brought a total of $89,240 paid for 150 standardbreds.

The day's top price of $4,700 was bid by Roy Gentry of Wilmington, Ill., for Speedway Brownie, a 4-year-old bay colt.

Cleveland Set For Pair Of Big Matches

CLEVELAND (AP)—Roland La Starza and Rocky Castellani, a pair of handsome boxers with lost championship bids in their memoirs, meet two powerful sluggers here tonight.

LaStarza of New York, once the top-ranked heavyweight contender, will be opening a comeback drive in a 10-round against a crude but hard-hitting opponent, Charlie Nor-kus, of Port Washington, N. Y.

That bout will be televised from the Arena by CBS at 10 p. m.

Cleveland's Castellani, like La Starza a fancy boxer, meets Moses Ward, of Detroit, another middle-weight who counts more on punching power than a footwork skill. That fight also is scheduled for 10 rounds.

a 3-2 favorite over the wild-swinging Nor-kus. Castellani was favored over Ward, 9-5.

La Starza has been out of action since he lost a close one to England's Don Cockell in London last March 30. In 1953 La Starza was stopped in 11 rounds in a title fight with Champion Rocky Marciano.

Castellani, the No. 3 contender, was outpointed by middleweight champion Bobo Olson in San Francisco last September, but not too impressively. Castellani sent Olson to the floor once in that battle and later hit the canvas himself, but he was carrying the fight to the champion at the finish.

Ohio State University today started practice for the New Year's Day football encounter with Southern California in the Rose Bowl.

Jim Katsavage of Philadelphia and Jack Muldowney of Pittsburgh last night were elected captains of the 1955 University of Dayton football team. Both are juniors. The 1954 most valuable player award went to Jim Shafer, 202-pound guard from Hamilton, team captain.

A six-round heavyweight match at Martins Ferry Dec. 11 will be refereed by heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano. Herb Fair of Steubenville and Gene White of St. Paul, Minn., will be paired.

A 16-year-old basketball player at Newtown, Pa. High School died last night during a varsity practice session. The county coroner said John M. Allen of Riverton, N. J., suffered a rupture of a small blood vessel in the brain.

Motorists Warned By Safety Council

Yule Season Hazards Cited;
Driving Tests Set For Dec. 15

For a merrier Christmas, drive with special care during the holiday season.

This appeal was made to motorists by the National Safety Council as it opened its annual Christmas safety campaign.

It also served as a reminder that, on Dec. 15, motorists in Circleville and the surrounding areas will be in a special public spotlight for a 24-hour period. On that day, a nationwide effort will be made to hold all types of traffic accidents to a new all-time low.

The Christmas-New Year holiday season is the most hazardous single period of the year, according to the safety council. Twice as many persons are killed in traffic accidents at this time as on the same days of the preceding two weeks. Causes of the extra dangers and higher tolls are heavier travel and the festive spirit of the season, plus the usual winter hazards of bad weather, slippery roads and more hours of darkness.

In an effort to reduce these Yuletide accidents to a minimum, city and state officials, civic leaders, safety councils and 163 organizations again are joining with the council in listing the cooperation of every motorist and pedestrian.

Purpose of the day will be to show that motorists and pedestrian

can reduce traffic accidents by their own actions, and to demonstrate that the community is the place to attack the traffic safety problem.

An all-out national effort will be made to hold traffic accidents to a minimum.

Mayor Bob Hedges has announced that Circleville will participate in the test and that Ray Friend will serve as director of the effort in this locality.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, said the Christmas season can be faced with optimism but not complacency. He pointed out that the Fourth of July and Labor Day holiday periods brought substantially fewer deaths than had been expected.

SPECIFICALLY, the safety council offered the following tips for holiday driving:

1. Respect the weather. Adjust your speed to road and weather conditions.
2. Keep your windshield clear, and use tire chains for severe snow and ice conditions.
3. Brake intermittently—don't lock the wheels—when the road surface is slippery.
4. Follow other vehicles at a safe distance.
5. Allow plenty of time to make your trip without hurrying.
6. By all means, don't drive after drinking.

Hope Abandoned For Trapped Man

ST. CLAIR, Pa. (AP)—A second rock slide has forced rescue crews to abandon hope of reaching a trapped coal miner alive in a 280-foot-deep anthracite shaft here.

Crews of 16 men each were working in alternating shifts around the clock until the second rock fall yesterday in the shaft where Frank Pescavage, 37, of Gilberton, was trapped Monday.

Mine Inspector Timothy Ryan said it might be a month now before Pescavage could be reached.
